• THE ADVENTURES OF CLIVE WEATHERSTONE •

No. 3 Mr. Weatherstone says "Good Bye."

A "despedida" party was awaiting Clive Weatherstone when he emerged from his cabin. Major Stuart, his wife, and a merry group were having cocktails in the Smoke Room. "Sit down", said the Major, "and have one of these 'Avila Star Specials'. Smoothest drinks afloat. Wash all your troubles away, old fellow!" Jimmy, the steward, brought Clive the famous ship's cocktail. Jimmy's jolly face was familiar to hundreds of travellers. Like so many of the 'Avila' staff, he had been with the Blue Star Line for many years. He never forgot a face, or a favourite drink. "I say," exclaimed Mrs. Stuart, "I know those people out there in the Winter Garden. That's Sir Gilbert Buxton, the famous surgeon, talking to Lady Yvonne Radde. Fancy!"

"Why fancy, my dear?" asked the Major. "You know these Blue Star ships are always full of well-known people. I understand Ronald Vicker, the racer, is on board, too."

"Look!" cried Mrs. Stuart. "There's Gloria Summers. Come along, Clive. You must meet her at once. She's a marvellous girl."

Fruit

At a meeting of the Secretariat of Agriculture of the State of São Paulo held recently, it was suggested that a refrigerated warehouse should be erected in Santos, for the storing of fruit prior to export. A special Committee was nominated to study the question, consisting of representatives of the Ministry and Secretariat of Agriculture, producers, exporters, transport Companies, and the Dock Company.

At the same meeting other aspects of the trade were discussed, chief amongst these being the packing of fruit, superintendence of orchards, and other problems of growing and planting.

An open credit of 1,000 contos has been requested by the Minister of Marine for the purpose of completing the installations of the new Naval School buildings. The request has been approved by the "Tribunal de Contas".

Unsettled weather conditions are forecast for the month of December by the Argentine Meteorological Observatory. This forecast is causing uneasiness on the part of farmers, as it coincides with the height of the wheat harvest. It is to be hoped that storms will not again damage the crops in Brazil.

Relations with France

M. Charles Dumont, President of the Loans Committee of France, speaking at a session of the Committee of Foreign Affairs of the Senate, displayed surprise that Brazil should be favouring British and American holders of Brazilian Bonds, despite the fact that France has commercial deficits in Brazil, and the Brazilian debt in France totals four billion francs. This state of affairs M. Dumont attributed to the debt being composed of several loans, but he insisted on the urgency of interests of French bond-holders being taken into consideration if there was to be any commercial understanding between the two countries.

A few days later M. Johannes Dupraz addressed a meeting of the National Association of Economic Expansion, when he commented chiefly on the results attained by the French Commercial Mission to South America. In regard to frozen debts, Sr. Dupraz favoured the policy of exchanges of French manufactured goods for Chilean nitrates, lentils and copper, and Argentine meat, particularly praising the efforts made by Brazil in the immediate steps taken for the liquidation of debts to the value of ten million francs.

M. Dupraz concluded by welcoming the economic possibilities of the new markets opened up, recommending the various groups of industries represented to take advantage of the South American countries, where foreign competition is so strong.

M. Julien Durand who headed the French Commercial Mission, confirmed M. Dupraz' words, acclaiming this excellent opportunity of a policy of exchange which is so great an improvement on previous conditions.

Transatlantic Air Service

The Administrator of the Cie. Air-France, M. Louis Allegre, announced on his return to Paris a few days ago, that the regular weekly service of passenger-carrying planes of this Company would commence operating in March 1936. The planes will carry four passengers, the fare being equivalent to that of the sea crossing; the planes will effect the Atlantic crossing in twelve hours, as compared with the present time of eighteen hours. Twenty planes of the "Potez" type are in the course of construction, to operate this line.

There is considerable favour shown to the introduction of the "English Week" in commercial circles. This will necessitate the alteration of two Decrees, one of which established the eight hour working day, and the other, the forty-eight hour week; the Commercial Employees' Union sponsors this alteration, but enquiries will first be made among its members as to whether it is preferable for business houses to close at midday on Saturdays, or to open at midday on Mondays.

Federal Council of Overseas Trade

The Federal Council of Overseas Trade held a Meeting on Monday last, under the Presidency of Sr. Sebastião Sampaio, the Minister of Foreign Affairs (Dr. José Carlos de Macedo Soares) attending as usual.

Various subjects of a revisionary character were touched on, including exports of citrus fruit to Canada, relations with Holland, the increment of exports of castor seed, and several other matters regarding the exploiting of foreign markets for Brazilian goods.

In regard to the sugar question raised the previous Monday, (see W.B.R. No. 48 of 2nd. Dec.), Sr. A. Boavista announced that, in accordance with the authorisation received to study the concession of exchange privileges on the export of the sacrifice quota of sugar a reduction of 15% in the delivery of exchange at the official rate had been resolved. This measure received the unanimous ratification of the Council, as prearranged.

In conclusion, the Council decided to submit to the President of the Republic a series of considerations and arguments justifying the collection of 260 reis per kilo duties on imports of paper for fruit wrappers.

RIO DE JANEIRO

THIRTY FIVE YEARS AGO

Extracts from "The Brazilian Review" of December 11th. 1900.

The secretary of Agriculture has granted the Paulista Railway Company permission to open to traffic the new station of Loreto at kilom. 140 of the Descalvado branch.

On 2nd instant 16 Guarany Indians interviewed the State President with a complaint regarding the invasion of their lands. They are lodged at the barracks.

Advices from Rio Claro state that an electric tram service is likely to be established between that city and the Serra do Itaquery passing through Santa Cruz de Passa Cinco.

Planters in Uberaba and neighbouring districts are giving their attention to viticulture on a considerable scale.

In Ityrápina, in consequence of the low price of coffee buyers are depositing it in private warehouses, there being already a stock of over 2,500 bags stored in this way.

Although the melon crop in Villa Americana is considered a short one, that fruit is being exported from the above city at the rate of 750 wagons a month.

In November, of the 2,266 immigrants to São Paulo arrived in the port of Santos, 1560 were Italians, 436 Spaniards, 214 Hungarians and 56 Portuguese.

COFFEE COMMENTARIES

Further to our last two Commentaries, there are still disturbances on the market in regard to the purchase prices for the D.N.C. quota. Telegrams couched in no doubtful language were despatched by growers in the region of Campos, Rio de Janeiro; to the State Government, soliciting a petition that the prices should be changed, and requesting the reception of a Commission of growers.

Further, a petition signed by a great many members of the Rio trade was formulated, which contained some very reasonable suggestions. We have been unable to ascertain how far this petition reached, or even whether it was actually presented to the D. N. C., but there is no doubt that the petition circulated on the Bolsa.

The document terminated with the following two suggestions:

1. The Purchases should be effected on the base of Type 7 at 50$000 per bag (including Sacking expenses).
2. The difference in prices should be 500 Reis per ten kilos per type higher or lower than Type 7.

The petition, fixing the price of Type 7 at 50$000, would put the quotation for Type 5 at 56$000, instead of 58$000 as previously fixed. (It is of course, understood that these suggestions refer to the Rio prices). This would relieve the tendency for selling high types in quantity, which is much condemned on all sides, in view of the comparative scarcity of fine coffees on the Rio Market. This is certainly a very excellent consideration.

The 500 Reis per ten kilos difference in Types is far more practical than the original 1$000, as will be seen by a rough comparison of market quotations. Indeed, it is remarkable that the D. N. C. fixed such uncalled for differences in the first place.

As regards the alteration in the basic price of Type 7, from 46$000 to 50$000, we cannot, however, see any reason why the original price should be increased; as was clearly shown in our last week's Commentaries, the price of 46$000 is the same as the market quotation, or very nearly so. The policy of false valuation can never do the market any good, and is much to be deplored. It may be that the parties signatory to the petition feel it wiser to call for high prices in anticipation of a possible reduction.

We have mentioned the scarcity of fine coffees on the Rio market; there appears to be some irregularity in this connection, as there are comparatively large quantities of high types despatched from stations in the interior of Minas Geraes to Rio, — some lots were ready more than six weeks ago — but only a very small proportion of this coffee has reached the market. This is most irregular, and it is even alleged that the D. N. C. is deliberately liberating coffee arriving in Rio by the Leopoldina Railway, more freely than that arriving from the South and South-West of Minas Geraes, by the Central Railway. This allegation, however, is perhaps somewhat exaggerated, as the D. N. C. cannot possibly have any interest in holding back Minas Geraes coffees. It is certainly true, however, that the greater quantity of coffee arriving by the Leopoldina Railway is of poorer types, whereas that despatched by the Central is chiefly of finer quality.

"King George IV"
Old Scotch Whisky

Digressing from the above questions, there is much of interest to be found in the study of the new system of coffee taxation which is to be introduced into the State of São Paulo, probably at the beginning of next year. Even today the São Paulo coffee taxes are not abnormally high, particularly when it is remembered that at one time, when this State bore the twenty million Pound loan entirely on its own shoulders, taxes exceeded 20$000 per bag. The following table of the total taxes on coffee in individual States is instructive:

Pernambuco	1$600 per bag.
Bahia,	8$400 " "
Paraná,	9$000 " "
São Paulo,	9$250 " "
Rio de Janeiro,	12$500 " "
Espirito Santo,	13$400 " "
Minas Geraes,	14$300 " "

Under the new regime a great many taxes in the State of São Paulo are to be abolished, including the 5$000 "emergency tax" and the 600 Reis export tax, which will leave only 3$650 per bag, being 3$500 payable to the Instituto do Café, and 150 Reis transport tax.

Although this reduction will be most acceptable in São Paulo, the Minas Geraes growers are much alarmed, as nothing has even been rumoured in regard to a reduction of the uncommonly heavy taxes in that State. Their situation is indeed perilous. São Paulo is, of course, the largest producer, with Minas Geraes following, heavily burdened by excessive taxes; the shortage of labour in Minas Geraes is more than mere hearsay; and now comes the final blow — that coffee from São Paulo will be obtainable at prices considerably lower than hitherto. Moreover, a consideration that seems to have been overlooked at the Coffee Convention held in July, the great majority of trees in Minas plantations are over twenty years old, while even fifty-year old plantations are not rare. The São Paulo plantations yield as much as a ton more of coffee per thousand trees, whereas the old Minas plantations only produce perhaps a third of this quantity. The Convention, however, made no allowance for this when decreeing the prohibition on planting; it is true that old trees can be substituted by new ones in equal quantities, but one would ask where the shortage created by the loss of old trees, which did yield a certain amount of coffee, is to come from while the new trees are growing.

Minas Geraes is losing ground almost daily, and the attitude of growers there may be described as utterly fatalistic—they have fought and lost, and do not seem the least bit interested in reclaiming their past glory. It is to be hoped, however, that in view of the repeated losses suffered by this State, either the D. N. C. or the State Government, or both in conjunction, will investigate the question of taxes — otherwise Minas Geraes may be almost disregarded in the future as a competitive producer of coffee.

Brazil's problem is how to get out of over-production while still following up a policy of taking charge of surpluses, thereby permitting planters to maintain an over extended planted area. New planting is taking place continuously in Brazil, in spite of laws to the contrary. No one knows how far the country will be able or willing to strain her financial position in order to see things through. However these matters have been discussed so often that there is no need to go into them any further at this time. Common sense tells us that a normal readjustment of supply and demand for Brazilian coffee can only be brought about either by crop failures, or by neglect of plantations, due to increased attention to other activities such as the cultivation of cotton, or by increased consumption, or by higher cost of labor as the effect of the depreciated milreis becomes apparent in its buying power, or finally, as far as the price trend of the article is concerned, by a further readjustment of its price level to the devaluated basis of our Dollar. As things are now, Brazilians know that they have nothing to hope for from lower coffee prices. With other things booming in the country, they have become practically adamant in so far as price concessions are concerned. To some extent, theirs is the same state of mind which now prompts Italy, in a mood of defiance, to hang out flags because commercially she has been cut off from the rest of the world.

The trade is hesitating between two alternatives — either the whole artificial structure created by Brazilian coffee policies will crash in the end like a structure undermined by termites, or something will happen to save the day, as was the case subsequent to the first valorization in 1907, and the large buying by Brazil in 1920-21.

In accordance with this state of affairs, fluctuations in our market have been limited, with little outside interest. The liquidation of December is proceeding slowly. There is a stock of Surinam coffee estimated at about 10,000 bags, hanging over our market, which owners will deliver unless they can switch to distant months at satisfactory premiums. This explains the larger premium paid on distant months for Contract Rio, compared to Santos, as quantities available for delivery against the latter, are only limited. Demand has been more active during the past few days. There is some business being done constantly with the larger concerns as buyers, in regard to which, however, not much is known by the public.

Discussions are still going on in Brazil regarding export taxes, and opinions are apparently divided. It seems that discontent exists in São Paulo in regard to the special 45 milreis tax which is now being collected. If our understanding is correct — 15 milreis was to serve for the guaranty of the coffee loan — 15 milreis for the purchase of coffee by the D. N. C., which some Brazilians are now attacking as unconstitutional, and 15 milreis for the repayment of loans made to the D. N. C. by the Banco do Brazil. It now appears that 15 milreis of the amount collected in the State of São Paulo has to be used for the service of the coffee loan contracted for by that State, while the other coffee producing States are free to dispose of their part of the tax as they see fit.

The following table sets forth the charges imposed on Brazilian coffee by way of taxation:

*According to a cable received here from Rio de Janeiro, we understand that the 9$285 São Paulo tax has been reduced by 5$660 per bag. However, this reduction is partly offset by a new 1½% sales taxes.

We have established these figures to the best of our ability. They bring out that were it not for the low value of the milreis, and the fact that coffee delivered on our Rio 7 contract is mainly represented by higher grades, commanding a premium of 1 to 2 cents, the planter would now get very little for his coffee, expressed in United States currency.

Colonos are again paid 300 milreis for caring for 1,000 trees, as many of them are preparing to desert to the cultivation of cotton.

As an example of developments, we may mention that about 5,000 building permits have been issued in São Paulo during the first 9 months of the present year, while in some sections the cost of living, rent and electricity has increased as much as 50%.

Information regarding the purchase of the 1 million bags of coffee is contradictory. It appears that one firm lately bought about 100,000 bags in the Rio market — spot and futures — while nothing is known as to how much may have been bought in the interior and about 30,000 bags were bought in Santos. Recent cables are to the effect that these purchases have now stopped, but the market didn't show it.

A cable received from Brazil just as we are going to press informs us that the D. N. C. has decided to buy, in the interior, 4 million bags of surplus production, on basis of the following prices:

	Rio	Santos
Type 5	58 milreis	68 milreis
Type 6	52 milreis	60 milreis
Type 7	46 milreis	50 milreis
Type 8	40 milreis	40 milreis

in bags—Price of bag included)

Prices paid in accordance with this schedule will not make for a reduction in the output — They are rather high.

Heavy rains have fallen in São Paulo during the past two months, about which there have been some complaints by farmers — it seems that farmers, not only in Brazil, always have to complain about something, otherwise these rains must have done a great deal of good to the coffee trees: It is a great pity that for purposes of economy our Exchange no longer receives the monthly figures of rainfall. These formerly proved of great value in forming an opinion as to how conditions were developing in Brazil.

INTERIOR STOCKS — Privately owned stocks in the interior of Brazil amounted to 8,084,000 bags on October first, to which about 10,600,000 bags owned by the Government must be added, and perhaps another million owned by the D. N. C., aggregating approximately 19,500,000 bags, as against about 18,000,000 bags on September first.

From July 1, 1935 to November 15, 1935 — 378,000 bags of coffee were destroyed in Brazil, making a total from June 1931 to November 15, 1935 of 35,499,000 bags.

MILDS — There is nothing in particular to report from mild producing countries. Some districts of Colombia complain about smaller yields. The main point is, that on the whole these countries do not appear to be at all enthusiastic about disposing of their coffee, and in addition, the crops are delayed. Evidently in spite of cheap labor, low prices are beginning to tell on them, especially as in some parts of Europe requirements have been greatly reduced — for instance, in Germany where they formerly obtained high prices for fancy grades. Nothing is known as yet as to the exact amount of coffee involved in the agreement between Germany and Colombia. There is continually a short interest in such coffees, through forward sales by consuming countries, arising from the changed mode of doing business.

PORTO RICO — It appears that it was the intention of Washington to bring to the United States, under Government supervision, the entire output of the coming Porto Rican crop, estimated at 50,000 bags, and to distribute it here with the help of extensive propaganda under the label "Luxury After-Dinner Coffee." Apparently, the sponsors of the scheme had in mind to obtain a price of 22c. a pound for Porto Rican planters, while fine washed Colombian coffee can be bought at 10c. It appears that the coffee trees, destroyed by hurricanes in 1928 and 1932, and which formerly yielded about 170,000 bags of coffee a year, are now producing again, and Porto Rico is looking for a market. The Green Coffee Association has protested against this attempt to interfere with the regular trade channels.

THE AMERICAN-BRAZILIAN TREATY — The trade agreement with Brazil has been ratified. It provides that frozen import credits owing to American exporters, amounting to about $25,000,000 will be paid gradually through acceptances by the Bank of Brazil. Our Government has let it be known that The Import & Export Bank, a Government institution in Washington, was willing to discount 60% of these drafts without recourse against American holders, while 40% would be accepted as collateral for loans intended to facilitate further foreign trade. It is hoped this agreement will have a most favorable influence on trading and the general relationship between this country and South America, since the rampant fear formerly existing in Central and South American countries that the United States intend to "Abyssiniazize" them some day, should now be dispelled, in view of the liberal policies followed by our Government toward Haiti, the Philippines and Nicaragua.

There are favorable factors in the coffee situation which should not be overlooked at any time. One is that the whole coffee business in consuming countries is nowadays carried on with a minimum of stocks, as the jobbing trade has become practically extinct, and therefore the whole coffee situation is vulnerable, giving impetus to an advancing movement, whatever the cause. There is also the fact that the trend of markets is mostly bearish, and that consumption, at least in this country, is on the increase, due to an improvement in general conditions. Moreover, that coffee is cheap, even very cheap when looked at in the light of the above figures. We realize, that while the statistical position as well as world's conditions are far from illuminating; at the same time one cannot help feeling that there are sufficient favorable elements in the situation to warrant purchases at about present prices, feeling that they may ultimately show excellent results.

COST AND FREIGHT —

There has been a slightly better local demand of late for Brazil as well as mild coffees. Cost & Freight offerings range from 7.80 cents to 8.05 cents for Santos 4's, and 5.40 to 5.50 for Victoria 7/8's. Colombian coffees are somewhat firmer, and asking prices are 10½-10¾ cents for Medellin Excelso, 10¼ cents for Armenia, 10 cents Manizales, and 9¾-9½ cents for Washed Bucaramanga coffee. Maracaibo coffees, Good Washed quantities, are offered from 9¼ to about 9¾ cents according to grade, with fine old crop lots obtaining higher prices. There have been offerings here of Guatemala coffee, Bourbons, at 8¾, and Good Washed at 9¼ cents. Lower priced coffees continue in good demand, especially Angola coffees, which are selling at 5½ cents for Cazengo and Eneaje, and 5¾ cents to 6 cents for Novo Redondo (Amboim). With the approach of colder weather an increased demand on the spot for all grades of coffee is expected.

The Green Coffee Association of New York, Inc. has just appointed a committee to meet every two weeks, for the purpose of establishing prevailing spot differences existing in Santos coffee between the following grades:

- 1—Strictly soft
- 2—Soft
- 3—Free from Rio flavor
- 4—Hard
- 5—Rio

LONDON FINANCIAL POSITION

November 29, 1935.

Fears of a financial crisis in France following a political upheaval have been allayed somewhat by the vote of confidence this week in the French Premier, M. Laval, though it is evident that his victory represents little more than a respite. According to some newspapers he is reported to have told Italy that an attack by that country on Great Britain would bring France to our support. The other interesting political development of the week is the decisive victory scored by Labour at the General Election in New Zealand. This was followed by a rather severe fall in New Zealand Government securities, for it produced a certain amount of nervousness among investors. Apparently, however, the importance of the event may be exaggerated. The insurrectionary movement in Brazil caused a fall in the Government securities here, but prices recovered when news was received that the Government had effectively dealt with the outbreak. The railway stocks are easier on balance. Argentine rails have been fairly well maintained, more particularly the fixed charge issues, but there is a feeling that a substantial improvement is unlikely until the Government shows a more friendly attitude towards the companies. At home the new National Government is faced with a difficult and rather delicate problem in connection with coal, the miners demanding an increase in pay which the owners say the industry cannot afford if it is to run at a profit. Evidently any solution must be along the lines of Government assistance, accompanied by the establishment of a central selling agency. Otherwise the industrial outlook is quite favourable, especially in view of the State-aided schemes for improving business.

We are experiencing a miniature flood of new capital issues, which are encouraged by the continuance of cheap money and the strengthening of confidence that followed the result of the General Election. For the most part the issues are well taken, thanks partly to the applications of the "stags" — those who subscribe merely for the purpose of snatching a market premium when the scrip is dealt in. Annual reports of industrial companies are still showing improved results, and in not a few cases increased dividends are announced, thus reflecting the great recovery in home trade during the last year or two. Because of this, industrial ordinary shares are one of the firmest sections of the Stock Exchange. Many are in short supply, a condition that is apparently accentuated by the operations of the fixed trusts who buy securities which are taken off the market for a long period. There is thus a tendency for some prices to rise to an artificially high level, though in regard to this it has to be remembered that during the last few years the views of investors as to what yield should be expected from a first class "equity" have undergone a decided change.

Now that the French Premier has secured a vote of confidence a check to the withdrawals of gold from the Bank of France may be expected, but the amount lost this year probably exceeds £160,000,000. Most of it has gone to America, whose stock bids fair to reach the £2,000,000,000 mark, in which case the total would equal the time deposits of the banks in the Federal Reserve system. It is perhaps not surprising, therefore, that machinery for the control of bank credit in America in order to prevent an inflationary boom is being set up in accordance with the U. S. Banking Act of 1935. The proposed rules will not necessarily affect Wall Street. The Governor of the New York Federal Reserve Board is reported to have declared lately that as the present activity in Wall Street is being financed with cash the movement is safe and healthful and should be welcomed. This is reminiscent of the refusal of the Board under the direction of the Coolidge Administration to exercise the power of credit control during the great boom which preceded the slump of 1929. The Bank of England continues to buy gold, but from what source is not clear. So far this year it has increased its stock by £5,752,000, the present total being little short of £200,000,000. This is taking the gold at the old price of about 85s. per ounce, whereas if it were revalued on the basis of the current quotation the amount would be nearly £330,000,000. The reason for this continued buying is not quite clear, but apparently it is connected with the prospect that at the end of this year the note circulation will reach a new high record since the former Treasury notes were taken over by the Bank. The purchasing power of the community has been considerably increased by the improvement in trade, with its corollary of lessened unemployment, and the increase in public confidence.

Monetary prospects are indicated by the fact that the municipal loans now being floated are offered on terms giving about 3% — sometimes rather less — while an important electricity corporation was successful this week in raising £2,000,000 on 3¼% debenture stock offered at 98½ per cent. Another similar undertaking placed privately about £625,000 of 3% debenture stock at about par. In the Money Market loans into 1936 have been arranged lately at ¾ or 1% and the Government is still able to issue 3 months Treasury Bills at about 9/16 per cent. Italy has raised the price at which gold will be purchased from its own citizens to 15.50 lire per gramme, as compared with the old parity figure of 12.63 lire. The measure is purely a domestic one, but, in effect, it amounts to some depreciation of the paper currency. With regard to Italy, it is abundantly clear that the country is considerably perturbed by the prospect of economic sanctions (by the assenting members of the League of Nations) which will include oil, coal and certain other articles necessary to the prosecution of the campaign in Abyssinia.

LONDON PRODUCE NOTES

London, Nov. 29, 1935.

SUGAR — With the exception of sugar, the London Produce markets have passed through a rather quiet period, business being checked during the early part of the week by the movements in some of the Continental currencies. In the sugar section, however, an improvement in activity was recorded in refined and raws, prices of the former being advanced 3d. per cwt., while the liquidation of the December position on the futures market is proceeding well, and tenders are being readily absorbed. A feature in raws has been the buying for Continental account, while countries farther afield have also participated. It is estimated that over 50,000 tons of Cuban, 96 per cent. have been taken by those centres, while our own refiners have taken over 30,000 tons including some 15,000 tons tendered through the futures market. It was rumoured that Italy was arranging purchases of Brazil sugar, but confirmation on this point is lacking. First hand sellers of raws maintained their reserved attitude and made 5/1 1/2d. per cwt. for foreign 96 per cent. The continuation of the present careful marketing policy of the cane sugar producers will go a long way in establishing a more remunerative level of prices, while a conservative policy in planning the size of next year's crops, will help to bring the visible supplies down to a point where they will no longer be a "bear" on the market.

RUBBER — The market for plantation rubber has been passing through a trying period, due to the nervousness about the gold bloc currencies and the important question of the basic quota for the Dutch East Indies. A fair amount of liquidation has been in evidence, but this was well absorbed, and the market tended firmer, with business in smoked sheet, spot, at 6 5/16d. per lb. Para grades were advanced a further farthing to 6 3/4d. per lb. for hard, fine, spot. The meeting of the International Rubber Regulation Committee on Dec. 3, is likely to be an important one, as it will have to deal with the matter of the Dutch East Indies quota and fix the export allowances for next year.

COFFEE — At the coffee auctions, the offerings of new crop Kenyas were generally disappointing as to quality. The demand all round was slow.

TEA — There was good competition for all growths of tea, and leaf grades for export were a better market, while prices were fully maintained to an occasional slight improvement.

COCOA — The Accra cocoa market has been featureless and not much movement is expected until the prices in New York and on the futures markets come into parity with the prices ruling on the Gold Coast.

JUTE — Easier advices from Calcutta have depressed values here of raw jute, but a fairly good business passed at the decline. First marks, Nov/Dec. sold from £20.7.6. to £19.17.6. and Lightnings from £19. to £18.13.9. per ton c.i.f.

TIMBER — Very limited stocks of mahogany logs are held in first hands at the present time, and so moderate are the shipments that arrive that it appears probable the brokers' holdings, after the sales that will take place in December, will be very light to carry forward into the new year. The docks stocks at the beginning of this month amounted to about 3,000 tons, practically all of which was African wood, with compares with 1,273 tons a year ago.

FRUIT — The first arrivals of Valencia oranges were of good quality and colour and met an active demand as follows: — ½ cases, 240, 18s. to 20s.; 300, 18s. to 20s.6d.; 390, 17s. to 18s.6d.; 504, 15s.9d. to 18s.; Malaga ½ cases, 240, 12s.6d. to 13s.6d.; 300, 13s. to 15s.; 390, 14s. to 16s.3d.; 504, 14s. to 16s.; Brazilian were easier, 126, 9s.3d. to 12s.; 150s, 11s. 6d. to 13s.6d.; 176, 12s.6. to 14s.; 200, 13s.9d. to 16s.; 216, 15s. to 15s.9d.; 252, 15s. 6d. to 17s.3d. Bananas in moderate supply; Canary 12s. to 20s. per crate; Brazilian 9d. to 11d. per doz. Imports from Brazil last week; bananas 44,000 bunches and oranges 39,000 boxes.

HIDES — were in slow demand and dry River Plates were sold at much lower prices with B. A. Americanos at 6½d.; B. A. Anchos 5¼d.; B. A. Inservibles 4¼d.; Cuyabanos 6¼d. and Chubuts at 6 7/8d. per lb.
