RIO DE JANEIRO, JANUARY 15th, 1888. THE attention of the Sociedade Central de Immigração has recently been invited by Commendador Malvino Reis to a project for the creation of a new credit institution to be known as the "Banco Agricola do Brazil," in which he proposes to unite merchants and planters for the purpose of providing capital to meet the exigencies caused by the transformation of labor. We do not know what action the society will take in this matter, but as the friend and protector of the poor immigrant who has only his hands with which to gain a livelihood, there ought to be but one choice. The creation of credit institutions to protect existing proprietors and perpetuate antiquated conditions of industry and society is clearly an error and is highly inimical to the future welfare of the immigrant. If this be true, as we claim, then the society must clearly oppose every proposition of that character. We will lay down the proposition, which no one will dispute, that the greater the number of its people who can be made self-supporting and prosperous, the richer and stronger will the country be. A few rich proprietors do not represent the strength of a nation, like a great mass of thriving, well-to-do people of a middle What we need in Brazil, therefore, class. is a large class of small planters, tradesmen, mechanics, etc., who will be proprietors and taxpayers, and who will be deeply interested in the protection of life and property, the maintenance of schools, the creation of roads, bridges, etc., and the intelligent development of agriculture and skilled industries. Agricultural credit institutions, created for the relief of embarrassed planters, will never accomplish this result. The new lever for the uplifting of this country is labor, and not credit. As long as the improvident debtor can command credit he will never economise, but when he has only the choice between work and retrenchment on the one side, and bankruptcy on the other, then we may see what mettle there is in him. If he has the right kind of spirit he will need little of this artificial credit; if not, then he will go to the wall, as he should. The tendency of all these instrumentalities is to foster unworthy men and perpetuate unsound enter-prises and practices. There will always be found private sources of credit for good men and good enterprises, so that, as a rule, no great loss can result from the absolute withdrawal of state and corporate aid in such channels. If there be any real need of national aid, let it be in the providing of markets for the products of labor, rather than the loan of cash on probabilities or eventualities. The unfortunate may appeal to our charity, but embarrassed wealth may well be left to its own recourses We trust that the immigration society will give this question its earliest consideration and then let us know how far it is in accord with this attractive idea of borrowing one'sself rich.

THE reappearance of cholera in the Argentine Republic, as announced by the Nacion of Buenos Aires on the 12th, should lead the sanitary authorities of this city to at once put their affairs in order. We do not refer to purely quarantine regulations and the expenditure of more money at Ilha Grande, but to the proper cleaning and inspection of the dangerous districts of this At the present moment the city is exceptionally healthy for this time of the year, water is abundant though imperfectly distributed, and the principal streets are moderately clean. There are still some dangerous cortiços in the thickly-settled districts where cholera, or any other infectious disease, would quickly get a foothold, and there are localities where the streets and dwellings are in a dangerously filthy condition. These should at once be put in order. There is also a great defect in the proper drainage of the low-lying district of Cidade Nova which might prove serious in case of epidemic. The correction of this defect has been agreed upon by the authorities directly interested, but is embargoed by others who appear to be more anxious to preserve all the "red-tape" formalities of the departments than to improve the sanitary condition of the city. The serious experiences of the past year with small-pox ought to be a lesson to the authorities that delays in such matters are fatally dangerous. Attention was early called to the existence of that disease in various parts of the city, but not one step was taken to check it until it was practically beyond control. And the result was a loss of considerably over three thousand lives. There may be no way to fix the responsibility for such negligence, but it is a public crime of the most aggravated character, We may now be in no great danger of a cholera invasion, but it is quite as necessary to put the city in a proper sanitary condition as though that dreaded disease had actually crossed our frontiers.

THE manifest increase of crime in this country, as shown by the daily reports, of savage murders and assaults from the provinces, is a matter which ought to arrest serious attention. Crime is of course to be found everywhere, and in its most revolting phases. But it will be difficult, in our opinion, to find a country where assassination is more common than in Brazil, and where so little attention is given to it. Hardly a mail comes from the north, or from the south, which does not bring accounts of murders, unparalleled in savage ferocity and brutality. And yet, no one seems to feel the slightest interest in the matter, as long as the victims are strangers. Even the press reproduces the particulars of these crimes without a note of comment. We do not like to charge that this belrays a lack of interest in the general well-being of society and in the good name of the country, nor that it discloses an indifference for human life which is rarely found among civilized nations. And yet, what else can we say? The columns of the native press are witnesses to the truth of our assertion. and they fail to show either an aroused public sentiment for the suppression of these crimes, or a swift enforcement of the law against the criminals. The truth is, we are living in an age of mawkish sentimencrime, the stronger this sentiment appears in favor of the criminal. Not only are there foolish women who stand ready to crown these monsters with flowers, but there are equally foolish men who, in the name of justice and humanity, put every obstacle in the way of meting out punishment. Justice should never be savage, but she should be impartial and unrelenting. We can not see the consistency of treating a murder with so much indifference, as though the blood and property of a murdered man were of no account to society and to the state, and then display so much sympathy for the murderer and anxiety that his rights shall not be infringed and that he shall not be unduly punished. Is the life of a criminal then of more account to society than that of a lawabiding citizen? Or is society run on the principle that a live dog is worth more than a dead lion? Under present conditions, life and property are clearly not protected in Brazil. And the frequency of crimes and the rapid increase of those classes from which so many criminals come, leads to the conclusion that men must either take the execution of justice into their own hands, or the laws and courts must be roused from the lethargy into which they have fallen. The jury has become a broad farce in the courts of justice, if not the open protector and defender of criminals, The bench, too, has become weak and venal, too dependent upon political changes to be impartial and efficient. And the whole machinery of justice is clearly so com plicated and so slow in its operation as to be almost practically useless. It is time certainly that the whole system should be thoroughly overhauled and reformed.

om our last.] THE PAST YEAR.

The progress made in the emancipation of slavery in Brazil during 1887 forms one of the most interesting chapters in the year's history, and is certainly a very hopeful promise for the future. Upon the adoption of the Saraiva-Cotegipe law of 1885, it was announced by the government and its proslavery supporters that this would positively be the last step taken to accelerate the extinction of slavery. This law in reality effected very little toward that end, beyond the liberation of a few thousand sexagenarians, while in other respects it was manifestly less liberal than the law of 1871. During the ensuing year, while the registry of existing slaves was being effected and while the Cotegipe cabinet was able to maintain discipline in the ranks of its supporters, no further step toward emancipation was taken. The abolitionists had nearly all been kept out of the Chamber, public meetings had been in a measure suppressed, and an appearance of determined coercion was maintained. Early in 1887 it became apparent that the planters were neglecting to register their slaves, and also that irregularities were being practised which might occasion trouble. The registry closed at the end of March and, though no official report has yet been made, enough is known to make it certain that the number of slaves registered will not exceed 700,000, instead reaching 1,000,000 as estimated. Controversies have since arisen over the legality of registering slaves through a third party, and of describing them as of "unknown parentage," the first decisions of the then minister of agriculture (Antonio Prado) being against such entries. Since then under his successor (Rodrigo Silva) these decisions have been reversed, and the government has persistently used its authority to protect the slave-holder. An active and aggressive abolition society in Campos has tality in regard to the punishment of brought about several conflicts during the on conditions of time service, through which the number of slaves in that province was greatly reduced. It was in S. Paulo, however, that the most significant and important emancipatory movement has occurred. Up to the middle of the year very little progress had been made in that province, although a small band of abolitionists in the provincial capital had been doing some very effective work in the release of irregularly held slaves. The redemption of the city of Santos, however, opened an asylum for fugitives, and the successful escape and concealment of slaves soon aroused widespread consternation. In July the emancipation movement made rapid progress. In August the government took the stand that slaves registered as of "unknown parentage" were not ipso facto free, notwithstanding the decisions of the courts, and this led to popular demonstrations in many places, and to a prohibition of public meetings in this city. The efforts made by government supporters to secure an excuse for this measure, led to contradictory petitions from Campinas, S. Paulo, which gave the occasion for a declaration from Senator Antonio Prado in favor of a definite and speedier emancipation. The occasion and lack of organization prevented legislative action, but from that time the movement in S. Paulo has gone on rapidly increasing until at the end of the year the planters were freeing their slaves spontaneously by hundreds. This has been made easier by the large number of immigrants received during the year, some 34,000, which has tended to allay fears about a labor crisis on the plantations. It is now seen, also, that when S. Paulo becomes free, her territory will become a haven for fugitives from other provinces and her labor market will always be full. In Rio de Janeiro, however, the planters are trying to check the movement, and with the result that they will suffer all the more severely in the end.

The number of immigrants received in the country during the year has been largely in excess of any previous year's record, owing principally to the active propaganda made in Europe by the planters of S. Paulo. The books of the provincial hospedaria at the capital show that 34,310 had registered there during the year. The total number arriving in the empire will probably exceed 45,000. There have been no changes in their status in the country, other than those growing out of a better appreciation of the value of free labor, but it is confidently hoped that a public sentiment is now being developed which will in a brief period result in such changes as will improve their opportunities for gaining a livelihood and bettering their condition. The Prado land law project failed during the last session, but the question is not yet settled.

There has been a very noteworthy advance in public opinion during the year in regard to such changes in the political institutions of the country as will give a greater measure of local autonomy. The project for municipal government reform did not receive much attention in the last General Assembly, but the sentiment was frequently expressed in other discussions that this and another affecting the administration of the provinces must be seriously considered at no very distant day. In the province of São Paulo, a secession movement has attracted some attention during the year, and, though not numerically strong, it must be considered as one indication of the direction in which the current of public sentiment is setting. Great dissatisfaction has frequently been expressed in Rio Grande do Sul and Pará over the drain of revenue from those provinces to the imperial capital, and over the delays and blunders made in administering local criminals. And the more atrocious the year. In Rio Grande do Sul a general affairs from so great a distance and through officials representing the general government. It São Paulo now unites with these distant provinces in demanding local government and a fair division of the public revenues, the general government will have to yield. Aside from the "separatista" movement in São Paulo, it is well known that a great majority of the younger men of that province are determined to secure this reform, and should the present emancipation sentiment lead to the abolition of slavery there during the current year-as is more than probable-another pretext will arise for a large measure of decentralization. São Paulo will be justly unwilling to bear any share in the burdens of a taxation destined to protect and support the reactionary, slave-holding provinces, and she will have the power and influence to enforce her will.

RETROSPECT FOR 1887.

Extracted from the Jornal do Commercio, Jan. 9th.

We believe we are faithfully translating the general commercial feeling, at the close of 1887, in considering this as signifying greater confidence in the future of the country. The terrible probin the future of the country. The terrible prob-lem, whose near, inevitable solution dispirited the most audacious spirits, is day by day losing its alarming gravity; the servile element is no longer considered a necessary factor of production, and statistics are incontestably proving the superiority of free labor. The abundant crops of cotton, sugar, rubber in the northern provinces with eloquence to the obstructionists, and to the excessively timid.

Industrial activity awakes with energy. Agriculture already recognizes the advantages of varied production; the cultivation of cane is resuscitated, animated by general sympathy and breathing more freely, since it finds itself relieved of export duties on sugar recently abolished, and already dreams of its wealth in the past. The manufacturing industry is to a considerable extent represented by spinning and weaving mills, which prosper and multiply, stimulating the cultivation of our cotton, abundant in nearly all our provinces and of superior quality.

The expectations of an abundant crop of coffee are confirmed, which notwithstanding the quantity, will find remunerative prices in foreign markets, where consumption was excessively reduced in the

Our especial attention (as to import duties) is called to kerosene. The exorbitant duties weighing on this article, used almost entirely by the poorer classes, had already been pointed out by us as absurd, for they exceeded 100 per cent. Not-withstanding all these considerations, the tariff of 1887 still further increased the import duties on 1887 still intriner increases the import causes on this persecuted article, making each case pay 3$045. As a case in New York costs 85 to 90 c., or more or less 1$900, kerosene pays under the new tariff at the rate of 160 per cent.

Rice shows a notable increase in the importation of 43,148 bags, which is in truth deplorable for an agricultural country.

The shipments of coffee in 1887 did not exceed 2,241,755 bags, of 60 kilos., against 3,580,965 bags in 1886; that is, they decreased by 1,339,210 bags, or about 37 per cent. Prices, taking as a basis Ordinary first, which averaged 4$271 per 10 kilos. in 1886, rose to 7$545 in 1887, that is 3$274 on the former price, or over 76½ per cent.

The news that the Treasury could keep out o the market for a long time also contributed to the advance in exchange. On April 29th, in fact, it was known that the Treasury had accepted the offer made through the Banco Internacional do Brazil by European bankers to open a credit up to £2,000,000 stg. for a year. This arrangement permitted the Treasury to withdraw from the exchange market for a considerable period and to avoid competition with trade and depressing rates Taken from this point of view the operation was advantageous to commercial interests. We learn the Treasury did not use the credit for £2,000,000 to which we have referred, and also that the imperial government decided to take over the sum of £810,000, which was due the province of Rio de Janeiro by the sale of the Cantagallo railway to the Leopoldina company, the rate of exchange

In reference to the advances, about 10,000,000$, made during the year to the Bank of Brazil by the Treasury, the Joinal says: "It will be said that it is not worth while to retire paper money to afterwards, in a short time, re-issue it. To say this, however, it is necessary to confound paper money whose issue costs but the labor of printing the notes, with a circulation that has its own value, because it earns interest, which possesses the requisite of elasticity, because it accompanies the movements of business, and only remains in circulation so long as it is in demand and can be of service, thus not running the risk of depreciation.

Sir.—I think it just to offer a few observations for the information of those requiring a sanitary change at little expense, and at the convenient distance of two hours train, as I am convinced of the benefit my patients have derived from it. At Palmeiras, in perhaps the shortest period my experience of nearly inieteen years in public service has brought before ane, the most evident and rapid improvement in people affected with analarial poisoning lever took place.

The salubrious effect of the climate, (the average beat in the shade being from 8° to 10° Fahr, in the hot season, lower tham in the city) the cool and even cold nights, productive of long refreshing sleep, the atmosphere replete with ozone, which is almost at a minimum at times at the littoral of the harbor, except during the sea breeze, lead me, alter the study and observation of its effects on over go persons under my charge there, to consider it to be one of the best and most accessible resorts for invalids, in the vicinity of Rio.

The ministure is an ost sufficient to keep one indoors for long, the water is cold and abundant. The climate is almost identical with the military sanitary post of the British government at Janaics, where are received convalexents affected with the malarial, pernicious and yellow levers, formerly so widespread in our West Indian and Central American possessions, and I have no hesitation in saying that to such convalexents affected with the majorial, pernicious and yellow levers, formerly so widespread in our West Indian and Central American possessions, and I have no hesitation in saying that to such convalexents affected with the majorial, pernicious and yellow levers, formerly so widespread in our West Indian and Central American possessions, and I have no hesitation in saying that to such convalexents of even to those who are "out of sorts," not overworked, but "over-citied", a few da

PROVINCIAL NOTES

-The Bahia senatorial election is to come off or the 31st inst.

-Counterfeit "nickels" have made their appear ance in São Paulo.

-There were 1,494 deaths in Campinas, São Paulo, during the past year —The December gas bill of the city of Campinas amounted to 5,777$200.

—The formal opening of the S. Paulo provincial assembly occurred on the 10th inst. The Rio Grande custom house yielded 2,502,

251$241 and the mesa de rendas 314,526$552 during the past year. -Cases of small-pox have reappeared in Santos and the municipal council has decided to again open the lazaretto. -The Para provincial budget for the current year annuls the Sant'Anna Nery contract for the introduction of immigrants.

—An epidemic of beri-beri has broken out in the Santa Clara convent in Sorocaba, São Paulo, and a large number of its inmates have abandoned -- A measure has been introduced into the Sag

Paulo provincial assembly providing for the introduction of 50,000 immigrants into the northern districts of that province.

-The December receipts of the Pernambuco custom house amounted to 1,047,228$744, of the recebedoria geral 53,861$074, and of the recebedoria provincial 144,006$609.

-The Goyaz provincial assembly has voted a guarantee of 6% on 120,000$ for 30 years in of João José Correia de Moraes for the navigation of the Rio Vermelho.

-The Englishman, Miguel Godofredo (?), ar rested at Limeira, S. Paulo, for instigating slave to run away, was granted habeas corpus by Court of Appeals at the capital on the 2nd inst.

-A considerable number of the residents of Jundiahy, S. Paulo, have petitioned the president of that province to restrain soldiers (regulars) from entering railway trains in search of fugitive slaves.

-The provincial assembly of Pará has granted an exclusive privilege to Thomas Bain for ufacturing establishment, in which the fibres of cotton, wool, flax, jute, and several native plants will be employed.

There were registered in S. Paulo under the law of 1885 a total of 107,329 slaves. So numerous the recent emancipations that it is estimated that the province does not now possess

-The December receipts of the S. Paulo postoffice amounted to 12,133$690 for the city 29,028$850 for the rest of the province, against 11,642$560 and 26,508$803 respectively in the same month of 1886.

-The customs officials at Santos seem to be having considerable trouble with the immigrants, many of whom, while accepting free passage to Brazil, have money enough to invest in a little contraband. A few days since a woman was detected carrying 28 silk cravats in her tournure and four dress patterns wrapped about her body, and on the 3rd a little girl was found with 8 gold watches, 3 silver watches and a gold bracelet on -The Rio de Janeiro provincial law regarding immigration, etc., was formally approved by the president on the 2nd.

-A new literary periodical has made its appearance in Santos under the title O Lepidopter Perhaps the name will prove to have been well

-The first number of a new daily was issued in Santos on the 10th inst. under the title of Cidade It is to be devoted chiefly to commercial matters.

-The Correio Paulistano of the 5th inst. says that 34,310 immigrants were received in that province during the past year, as shown by the records at the hospedaria. Of these 15,692 entered during the first six months, and 18,618 the last.

-According to the Correio, of Campinas, of the 3rd inst., a revolt of Italian colonists had occurred on a plantation near Santa Barbara. The colonists had threatened to kill the director, and a police detachment had been sent to repress the dis

-The municipality of Valenca, Rio de Janeiro, has been invaded by a horde of gypsies who are committing all sorts of petty thefts, and the local press charge that the police are neglecting their duties in not obliging these vagabonds to leave the district.

-The S. Paulo Relação (court of appeals) held 94 sessions during the past year and gave decisions on 1,494 cases, of which 1,247 were civil and 247 criminal. Of these 950 were election cases, showing that a monarchy is quite as much given up to ing that a monarchy is "politics" as a republic.

-On the 8th inst. in Nictheroy the image of Our Lady of the Rosary was being carried from the parish church to her chapel, but the bearers were careless apparently and the image fell to the ground and was reduced to fragments, which fragments were deposited in the parish church. Absi-

-On the 4th inst, a woman was murdered by a slave at a place called Cambucy, pality of S. Fidelis, Rio de Janeiro, who also stabbed some of her children. The police were informed of the matter, and on proceeding to the place, found that the slave had been burnt by unknown parties. Lynch law, however, is considered barbarous!

-The late Conde de Pereira Marinho, the wellknown Bahia capitalist, left a legacy of 1,000$ to the Queen of Portugal. After paying the usual legacy dues, there remained 807$865 of the bequest at Her Majesty's disposal. The money has re-cently been divided by the legatee between two asylums, one for the education of seamstresses and servants, and the other for poor girls.

-The "Sociedade Promotora da Immigração," of São Paulo, has asked permission of the imperial government to introduce 3,000 families of eclonists for the plantations of that province under the provisions of the law of 28th September, 1885. Most certainly! Let the poor planter of S. Paulo have the alms asked for, and then let the rich and prosperous merchant be taxed for it!

-A Minas correspondent of the Fornal do Commercio says that the Anna Florencia usine, in the northern part of the province, ground 4,280 tons of cane during the past season (98 days), which cost 5$333 per ton. The product was 370,800 kilos of 5$333 per ton. sugar and 76,800 litres of rum. The price of sugar, in bags, rose to 1$340 per arroba (32 pounds). The profits of the season are estimated at 30,000$.

-The Rio Grande do Sul provincial assembly has recently passed a law for levying an impor duty of 200 rs. per kilogramme on all cotton and woolen goods introduced into the province from of the empire. This is directly in violation of the constitution, and of decisions of the government, but when the central authority is too weak to enforce the law the provinces will probably carry out the principles of local protection to the last degree.

-The Pará provincial budget for 1888 provides for a total expenditure of 3.073,672$383, and estimates the total receipts at 3,995,131$000. The appropriations include 734,586$ for public instruction, 70,000$ for public worship, 480,162$937 for public works, 462,706$892 for police service, 382,300$ for steamship subsidies, 157.375$ for collecting and auditing revenues, 135,300$ for public lighting, and 140,711$181 for provincial employés, pensioners, etc.

-The Monitor Campista, of Campos, province of Rio de Janeiro, completed a half century of existence on the 31st ult., being one of the oldest provincial papers in the empire. The Monitor was provincial papers in the empire. The Monitor was inaugurated on January 1st, 1838, and was first mangurated on January 181, 1838, and was first printed on Lisbon linen "almasso" paper. Its press was manufactured in London by J. Cope & Sherwin. In 1840 it fused with another Campos journal, since when it has been known by its present title. It was the purpose of its proprietors to begin its second half century in an enlarged form, but a delay in the shipment of a new press has deferred this for a few days. The Monitor has our compliments and best wishes. —The October receipts of the sub-treasury in Matto Grosso amounted to 17,167$288.

-The city of Pelotas, Rio Grande do Sul, contains 4,022 houses, indicating a population of about 25,000.

—The São Paulo planters are now freely making contracts with the freedmen for service on their plantations. The wages paid are not high, but an adjustment in that respect will come in good time.

—On the night of the 7th inst. an "unpleasantness" occurred in Uberaba, a party of men breaking into the house of Lieut. Col. Sampaio and ordering him to leave the place next day, under threats of death. He accordingly left. The same persons on the next day attacked the residence of the juiz de direito of that district and ordered him to clear out, and then they went to the jurz municipal and ordered him to resign. The mob evidently does not appreciate the judiciary.

RAILROAD NOTES

-The October receipts of the Rio do Ouro rail way amounted to 9,256$828.

—The December traffic receipts of the Leopoldina railway were 294,877$580, of which passengers produced 77,512$590, and goods 185,634$440.

—The government has granted the proprietors of the Santa Thereza "inclined plane" another year in which to extend that road on the Hallidie system.

—The October traffic receipts of the Norte railway are officially stated to have been 26,938$29$, and the expenses 5,611$220. This appears very satisfactory.

—A provincial decree, dated on the 2nd, grants an interest guarantee of 6 per cent. on an additional capital of 600,000$ to the Sant'Anna railway, province of Kio de Janeiro, to extend the line to S. João do Principe, under certain conditions.

—The Iuana company, São Paulo, has recently raised about 60,0005 by subscription to complete its extension from Charqueada to S. Pedro, a distance of 23 kilometres, and it is expected that the works will now be carried forward without further delay.

—The Gazeta de Noticias of the 8th inst. states that an English company, to be known as the "Rio de Janeiro and Northern Railway Company, Limited," has purchased the Norte line. The capital of the company is £500,000, issued through Messrs. Morton, Rose & Co., and was all taken.

—An important project has just been referred to the president of S. Paulo by the minister of agriculture for information. It is an application for a ninety year's privilege for the construction of a circular railway to commence at Porto Feliz, on the Hapetinings branch of the Sorocabana railway, and cutting this line, the Ituana, Rio Claro, Paulista, Mogyana, and S. Paulo and Rio lines also, terminates at Santos. Among the advantages claimed for the scheme are that it will promote rapid communication with provincial centres, and that freights can be reduced 50 per cent. So many important interests are likely to be attacked by this project, that its success seems extremely doubtful.

Coffee Notes

—A telegram to the Gazeta de Noticias, dated Pirapetinga, Minas Gernes, on the 8th inst., states that with the rains a new blossoming had appeared on the coffee trees, but it was thought this world fall, as the fruit on the trees was already abundant.

—The drouth, which was intense, burnt up some of the coffee of the coming crop and caused it to fall. Our opinion, based on the information we have collected, is that those interested should not count, for 1888-89, upon more than 5,000,000 bags.
—Jornal de Commercia, Jan. 8th.

—On the 12th inst. the minister of justice declared to the Junta Commercial that it had proceeded well in ordering that the so-called coffee exchange should not come into operation; for merchandise brokers may not realize operations on the exchange, nor create an exchange for the purchase, or sale, of coffee at auction.

—The Times of Ceylon of November 17th estimates the 1888 coffee crop at 165,000 cwt., against a shipment for 1887 of 180,429 cwt. The Times says: "Our estimate for coffee is 165,000 cwt., but it is not without some misgiving that we place the amount so high, and only in consequence of strong opinions expressed by friends whose opportunities for arriving at a right conclusion are unrivalled. Taking both the autumn and the spring crops, this has been an exceptionally good blossoming season. In the good old days such a season would have seen nearly a million cwt. leave the island. Now, alas! it is not able to produce more than one-sixth of that quantity—nay, the year's output will not equal that of the last, notwith-standing many advantageous circumstances."

LOCAL NOTES

—The Ouro Preto Gold Mines of Brazil, Limited, has received authorization to transact business in Brazil.

—The minister of marine has sent to Europe after a new electric light apparatus for the ironclad Aquidaban.

The contract for the Osorio monument seems to have been definitely secured by Bernardelli, who is soon to go to Italy for the required material. The monument is to be completed in three years.

—The Gazeta de Noticias in its annual review seems to have attacked a wasp's nest in pointing out that the minister of finance is not a perfectly infallible financial genius.

—Conselheiro João Manoel Pereira da Silva, the indefatigable candidate for a seat in the Senate from Rio de Janeiro, was at last chosen for that honor on the 9th, although he received the lowest vote of the three candidates elected.

—The minister of agriculture returned here on the 9th, after a short visit to S. Paulo, where he was entlusiastically received, dined, etc. From reports in the press the minister and Senator Prado appear to be on very friendly terms.

—The Villa Isabel zoological garden is now open and drawing well. A terra cotta lion is soon to be added to the collection, and perhaps a Rua do Ouvidor specimen will occasionally lend grace to the euclosure.

—On the 3rd the minister of agriculture asked the Treasury to pay 2,000$ for 500 copies of the "Revista Anthropologica". The price does not seem excessive, but what is this anthropologic review any way?

—If the Jornal will permit a trifling correction, we would say that the founder of the astronomical observatory on Mt. Hamilton, California, was James Lick, not "James Sink." It is sometimes important to know a man's real name.

—The manager of the New York Life Insurance Company notifies the creditors of the Beethoven Club that all accounts are to be presented to him for conference. It is a mistake, however, to call this a Yankee dodge to make insurance canvassing easy.

—The arms and munitions ordered in March of last year for the military police force of this city cost 61,162$240. But, what are policemen to do with repeating rifles, carbines and cartridges? Do they eat them? Or is the Cotegipe cabinet preparing for some anticipated trouble?

—We have to record the arrival of Col. Labre, the Bolivian explorer, on the American packet Advance. Col. Labre has made extensive journeys on the upper Amazon and its tributaries and is credited with the discovery of a new and practicable route between Bolivia and the Amazon.

—An annual prize of 500$ has been recently instituted by Dr. R. H. Gunning at the Lyceo de Artes e Officios and denominated "Imperador do Brazil," to commemorate the restoration of the Emperor's health. The prize will be conferred upon the pupil who, in the judgment of the director, best merits this distinction.

—The committee appointed to examine the accounts of the Portuguese consulate here, according to telegrams received from Lisbon and dated on the 4th mst. declare that there is a deficit of some 207,000$, but that there are no frauds in the book-keeping, nor any peculation on the part of the employes of the consulate. Perhaps the 207,000$ walked out by itself!

—O Pais of the 10th states that there are rumors here that orders have been given to withdraw from northern provinces two battalions of regular troops in addition to those already arrived here from the south, and by April the garrison will reach 3,700 men. What this concentration may mean O Pais does not state, but it is certainly disquieting as there are no symptoms of disorder here.

—The total cost of the public gas supply of this city for the past year was 582,052$357, including costs of exchange to the amount of 54,162$897. The total number of burners at the opening of the year was 6,310, and at the end 6,654. The gas consumed amounted to a total of 2,541.535 cubic metres, which under the English company's prices would have cost 724,589$238. The gas supplied, however, was very inferior in quality.

—A new way to collect had debts, to travesty the old English comedy, has been discovered by a professional "dun" here. On the 7th one of his customers refused payment, whereupon the "dun" brought a bed and bedding, his toilet requisites, etc., and proceeded to camp on the sidewalk before the door of the recalcitrant debtor. He hung up a rack on which he placed his hat and coat, produced a cantle, and was making himself comfortable when the police interfered, sending the picknicker to jail and his traps to the public deposit. Debtors must be protected!

—The import duties on raw and refined sugars in Italy have been increased by 11½ liras per 100 kilogrammes.

—The city's gas bill for December amounted to 42,054$467, including 2,859$080 differences in exchange. The globe gas bill for the suburbs cost an additional sum of 15,305$156.

—We regret to note the death, a few days since, of Dr. Domingos Soares Ferreira Penna, of Pará, who is widely known for the intelligent assistance which he gave to Agassiz, Hartt, and other naturalists visiting the Amazon.

—It would seem from a perusal of the aldermanic proceedings that reforms at the Santa Cruz slaughter house are never to be ended. Why not sell the old barrack, and turn the parasites adrift? It would certainly improve the beef.

—It would afford a welcome relief to the great majority of the people of this city if the municipal council would repress the customary musical preparations for Carnival. It is bad enough to be obliged to stand three days of riot, but to have it preceded by a whole month of drums, horns and howls is just a little wearing on the nerves.

—Since our last issue the telegraph has reported a very great increase in the epidemic of cholera now raging in Chili. The latest news, however, show some diminution in the number of cases. On the 12th there were 45 new cases and 11 deaths in Santiago, and 37 new cases and 19 deaths in Santiago. On the 3rd inst. there were 198 new cases and 56 deaths in Valparaiso and 109 new cases and 36 deaths in Santiago. The people were reported as fleeing from the two cities in terror, but have since recovered their courage.

—On the 12th the Paiz published a telegram from S. Borja, Rio Grande do Sal, stating that the municipal council had adopted a proposition to petition the General Assembly, through the provincial assembly, for a plebitate of the nation on the question whether in the event of the Emperor's death it is convenient to leave the succession in the hands of a princess inclined to religious fanaticism and married to a foreign prince. An invitation is extended to all the other municipal bodies of the province to adopt a similar representation.

—A burglar was cleverly caught in a house in this city a few nights ago. The mistress of the house was awakened by his trying to open an inside door. Instead of screaming, she slipped out another way, fastened the outside door which he had forced, and sent for the police. The fellow was fairly trapped, and was taken to the lock-up by the police. On the following day, however, the police authorities called upon the occupants of the house for competent witnesses—catching the fellow in the house and with burglar's tools not appearing to be sufficient testimony.

—The commission appointed by the Dutch government to investigate the character and causes of bei-beri, which has caused so many deaths among the Dutch soldiers stationed in the East Indian possessions of that country, has announced results very similar to those obtained by Dr. Lacerda, of the Museu Nacional in this city. A micro-organ ism has been found in the blood of beri-beri patients which when injected into the veips of animals causes the same disease. The same organism was found in the air of rooms occupied by patients, from which it appears to be infectious. Great care in disinfection, ventilation and cleanliness is recommended.

—In October last complaints were made to the government of the dangers to navigation cause by the projecting masts of the Bahia sunk off the coast of Goyanna. The gunboat Lanego was finally sent to the place to take whatever measures might be necessary. On his return the commander of the Lanego reported that he could find nothing and presumed that the masts had disappeared. Quite recently, the wreck was seen from the coasting steamer Pirapana, showing that they have either reappeared, or that the commander of the Lanego did not make a very careful search. When the government has any important service of that kind to do, perhaps it would be advisable to hire a fisher man to attend to it.

—A rough, called Narciso, entered an eating house on Rua d'Alfandega a few days since and ordered a dinner. At its conclusion, he started to leave the place without paying, when the proprietor stopped him and demanded the amount due. Narciso at once created a disturbance and tried to get away, when a policeunan aided by some spectators, secured him, took a large knife away from him, and then carried him to the police station. In a subsequent attempt to search him, Narciso drew a small knife, wounded a couple of policemen and was safely secured only with great difficulty. On his way to prison he expressed great regret that he had not been able to kill one of the policemen. This cutthroat and dead-beat is a fair specimen of the Rio capteura of which so much has been said.

-The cable between this city and Bahia is again broken, —The Argentine Republic received 137,000 immigrants last year.

-Dr. Salvador de Mendonça, Brazilian consul general at New York, arrived here on the 9th by the Advance.

—A session of the full council of state/has been called for the 18th to discuss an extraordinary credit for precautionary measures against the introduction of cholera into Brazil.

—Cholera appears to have again broken out in the Argentine Republic. The Nacion of the 12th affirmed the existence of about 70 cases in the city of Salta, with 5 deaths on the preceding day.

—The many friends of Dr. O. A. Derby, director of the geological section of the National Museum, will be pleased to hear that he has been elected a corresponding member of the Philadelphia Academy of Natural Sciences.

—The guide published by the province of Rio de Janeiro for immigrants has on its title page Emigração (emigration). It is an ominous mistake, for these appears to be rather more of the latter, than of the former, at present in the province.

—This year's crop of B. A.'s at the Pedro II college reaches 12. As about 490,000$ is annually voted for this college, graduates cost the unhappy taxpayer a little over 40,000$ per head. It seems dear, if the usefulness of the manufactured article be taken into consideration.

—Brazilian titles are unique to an extreme. A citizen has just been created Baron of Good Luck (Barão de Boa Sorte), but he appears to have discovered the absurdity of the title, and it will probably be changed. We have all along been apprensive that once the geographical names in Brazil are exhausted, the steady demand for titles will cause some difficulty in arranging good combinations.

—We regret to see that the Jornal of the 12th has undertaken to explain the recent rise in exchange, but we rejoice to see that our colleague recognizes what we have preached: that there is not too much money (currency), and that a banking law of some kind has become necessary. Exchange in Rio is one of those things that, as Lord Dundreary says, "no fellow understands."

—A daily colleague, in defending our Associação Commercial against a charge of inertia, considers that the publication of the annual report is sufficient to render the Associação worthy of applause, and confesses to have availed of information derived from these reports. The Associação is now several years behind-hand with its reports, and if the information derived by the defender is equally fresh, we pity the readers of the journal in question.

—Foot baths are cleanly and healthful, but they are most advantageously taken at home. A rainy day in Rio, through the miserable system by which the water from the house-tops is thrown upon the sidewalks, is a day of execrations to the unfortunate who is obliged to "foot" it in our streets, and his foot-baths are innumerable. Surely it would not be difficult to have the water-spouts connected with the surface water drains, and so permit only a moderate amount of inconvenience to the foot-passenger.

—The minister of empire has authorized the continuation of the Revy "drainage" works during the current year. The drainage in question will principally affect the Treasury. In the meantime, the completion of the Engenho Novo pumping station, which is to cost the Treasury nothing, remains embargoed simply because the government claims the land on which the station is being erected, and which the City Improvements Co. purchased for a high price at its own cost! This is called enlightened administration.

.—The Prensa of Buenos Aires has discovered a very interesting and ingenious argument to prove that the Argentine Republic is now receiving the largest immigration ever known in any country. The proposition is that as the Argentine Republic with a population of 4,000,000 received 125,000 immigrants last year, while the United States received a maximum of 600,000 when its population was 45,000,000, therefore the former leads the record. It is a queer basis for a mathematical conclusion, but it sounds well all the same.

—According to an article in the paid columns of the Jonal the New York Life Insurance Co. recently submitted a question to the most important policy-holders in Pará as to whether the company should pay the insurance on the life of a man whose death was due to the use of alcoholic liquors, notlythstanding the fact that a clause in the policy exempted the company from such payment. The Pará people decided that the insurance should be paid in full, as might have been expected, which will be done. Would it not be well for the company to now strike out that clause, as the precedent established will make such payments necessary hereafter?

-The Brazilian legation in Belgium has been instructed to purchase eight Nagaut repeating rifles and 2 muskets, with 5,000 cartridges, for experimental purposes.

A case of hydrophobis has been reported here, and the patient removed from his dwelling to the Misericordia hospital. The number of worthless curs infusting our streets renders Rio a second Constantinople. We sincerely hope that a doctor or two, a baron, and some more of the "high life" will be bitten, and then perhaps some steps will be taken to abate the nuisance.

that has been seen in our market.

—Our attention has been called to the fact, that while fully paid Banco Internacional shares are at a handsome premium, the second series with 20 per cent. paid are selling at a discount. The explanation is easy; there is too much currency, in the empire.

—At the general meeting of the Jacupirangiuho mining [iron] company held on the roth ult. here, it was decided to fuse the company with the Siderotechnia [foundry] company, taking over the assets, estimated at 400,000% of the latter which will be paid for in the shares of the new company.

which will be paid for in the shares of the new company.

—The Banco do Commercio announces that from the 14th to the 19th a list will be opened for subscriptions to the 4th take one-third of their holdings without premium; and upon closing the list the shares remaining will be sold at the market price. Ten per cent. is payable upon subscription.

price. Ten per cent. is payable upon subscription.

—We have seen extracts from Antwerp papers giving the rules of the coffee exchange there, which has been organized by some of the most respectable firms in that city. A Rotterdam circular also shows that the immediate Dutchman has been interested in coffee speculation, and the question remains as we have already placed it, viz: only in Rio has commercial morality arrived at the point, where speculation is to be discountenanced.

MARKET REPORT.

Rio de Janeiro, 14th January, 1888.

Exports.

Exports.

Coffee,—There appears to have been a considerable movement in the market since our last report. On the 4th brokers somewhat modified quotations, and on the 10th they were reduced to those we give below. Receipts are smaller for the ten days under review, but we are informed that this reduction is due to the heavy rains in the coffee zone, which have prevented shipments. This rain has been of great benefit to the growing crop, and there seems no reasonable doubt, that the 1888-89 grops will be one of the largest ever marketted. We have had several reclamations relative to our estimate of the Rio and Santos crops; our estimate as to the first has been endorsed by the Yornal do Commercia, and as to the latter, the S. Paulu correspondent of the Yornal cisimates it at 2,75000 bags, if there is a doubt as to the difference, we incline to believe that our estimate of 3,000,000 bags will prove to be about correct. It must be remembered that with the extension of railways, we are enabled to market much more coffee to-day, than was formerly possible, and we believe that Ikia and Santos can now export 8,000,000 bags of coffee with facility.
