RIO DE JANEIRO, JULY 5th, 1802.

It is unquestionably true that Chinese labor would be of material use in agriculture and in various industries in this country. Without doubt fortunes would be realized through its agency and the wealth of the country would be greatly increased. In a material sense an investment in Chinese labor will yield handsome profits. But before deciding the question, would it not be well to ask what influence this new beliement will exercise on the country beyond beloie deciding the question, would it not be well to ask what influence this new element will exercise on the country beyond that of pecuniary results? Contract labor of this character is only another species of slavery, and it can not fail to bring with it all the degrading influences of that pernicious institution. Are the Brazilian people willing to risk it? It is idle to deceive themselves with pretenses of voluntary contracts, wages, and all that, for these have never yet protected the alien bondsman against the selfish greed and oppression of his task-master. With the results of Chinese and coolie labor in Cuba, Perú, Guiana and even in Australia before them, the Brazilian people ought not to permit themselves to be governed by any such delusions. The temper and training of the Brazilian planter are those of the slave-holder—and of a very harsh, unfeeling Brazilian planter are those of the slave-holder—and of a very harsh, unfeeling slaveholder at that. There will be no sympathy wasted over the unhappy laborer, and there will be very little mercy. The yellow slave will be brought here for the sole purpose of enriching his employer, and he will be compelled to satisfy the bond. Then there is another question, which we have asked again and again:—What is to be done with the million of freedmen in the country and the million and more of poor people, black, white and mixed, who now encumber the soil? There are hands enough here to do all the work required, hands that will some day destroy us if they are not employed and trained. There is no use in ignoring the problems and perils are not employed and trained. There is no use in ignoring the problems and perils which lie hidden in this mass of ignorant and unemployed humanity. A mixed race is always difficult to govern, for it is influenced by the traditions and aspirations of neither of its progenitors. Add now to this mixture the Chinese laborer, the lowest stratum of that strange race, and what will be the result? What kind of a compound will come from this mercenary mingling of three or four races under semi-servite conditions and without a single moral force to dominate their passions? Will the wealth they create be enough to compensate the country for the social degradation of the masses which must surely follow? No man will say that he would ruin or discredit his own country in order to gain a fortune, but own country in order to gain a fortune, but can he honestly claim that this will not be the result if the door is opened to Chinese labor? Is it not best, in the interests of the people and of the future civilization of Brazil, to first see what can be done with the millions of unpurposed between millions of unemployed laborers who are already here?

ALTHOUGH it is yet too early to make accurate comparisons, our good neighbor, the Jornal do Commercio, will deeply regret to learn that Brazil is thus far getting nearly all the benefits from the reciprocity treats. to learn that Brazil is thus far getting nearly all the benefits from the reciprocity treaty with the United States. After all the many prognostications about the disastrous consequences in store for this country, and after all the denunciations of the selfish motives of the Americans, it will be a painful surprise to our Brazilian contemporaries to learn that they made a mistake in prophesying before they knew. However, when they realize the facts, their chargin will surely give way to satisfaction, and in the end we shall not be surprised to hear that it was not Blaine who outwitted Mendonça, but that it way to satisfaction, and in the end we shain not be surprised to hear that it was not Blaine who outwitted Mendonça, but that it was Mendonça who deluded Blaine. Experience is proving that the abatement allowed on many classes of American manufactured goods is altogether insufficient and therefore useless, and that the favors granted on other lines already in the market have not increased the trade as much as anticipated because consumption itself increases very slowly. There has been an increased importation of American goods, of course, and in some respects the new trade has come to stay; but in the absence of American commercial enterprise and the feeble efforts made to study the market and feeble efforts made to study the market and introduce goods suited to its requirements, it must be confessed that there is no slight occasion for disappointment on their part. Brazil, however, has cause for genuine congratulation, for the first year of the treaty shows an enormous increase in her exports to the United States. According to the returns of the statistical bureau at Washington, the values of the imports from and exports to Brazil during the first year of the treaty, compared with the preceding year, were as follows:

The items from which the best results will come are those which figure among the smaller totals and are now considered as experiments. With Cubat the results have been much better, although the period affected by the treaty has been much shorter. The returns show that while the imports from Cuba increased a little over 29 per cent, American exports to Cuba increased over 45 per cent. Of course, we understand and readily concede that the first year's results are not conclusive, but it will be admitted, we think, that they are far more favorable and promising to Brazil than our Brazilian contemporaries are far more tavorable and promising to Brazil than our Brazillan contemporaries considered probable. With the exception of The News, the newspaper press of this country was unanimous in denouncing the treaty as unfair and prejudicial to Brazil.

THE PORT OF SANTOS.

THE PORT OF SANTOS.

In view of the unsavory reputation which the port of Santos has already secured, of the reports still current of its dangers, of its present filthy, congested condition, and of the certainty that lever will return with the next hot season—in view of all this, is it not time that the authorities and the railway were doing something to improve that port and city? With the sacrifices of the past season still fresh in mind, it is impossible to excuse anybody for further delays. Last season's terrible losses were largely, if not wholly due to the negligence, apathy, indifference and selfish interests on the part of those who could have done much apathy, indifference and selfish interests on the part of those who could have done much to prevent them. At the first appearance of the fever, we called attention to the congested condition of the port, and to the dauger to foreign crews if something were not done to expedite the discharge of vessels. We urged the employment of temporary piers for discharging, and night work on the railway for conveying merchandise up country. Neither of these measures were adopted, nor was any good reason given against them. It was of vital concern to the state to save the reputation of the port—the only one available in the rich and populous state of Sao Paulo—and to get the port—the only one available in the rich and populous state of São Paulo—and lo get the cargoes lying in Santos up country as quickly and cheaply as possible, but it did absolutely nothing. It also concerned the S. Paulo railway to carry away all the merchandise offered as quickly as possible, and to provide every facility for a service which would attract business to that port, but it failed inexcusably to do it. We know the excuses advanced for permitting the port and the streets to fill up with merchandise, but in view of the terrible loss of life and of property they are wholly inadequate. As the port and city of Santos are still choked with merchandise, and as the filthy condition of the city threatens a worse epidemic than that fust ended, we feel it a epidemic than that fust ended, we feel it a duty to call attention to the danger and to demand efficient measures of protection. If something is not done, and at once, we shall do everything in our power to publish the truth and to warn shippers against the Deputy Leopoldo de Bulhões moved that the committee on the constitution be instructed to report on the legality of valve and debentures issued by certain factories and companies. In the debate on the army bill Deputy João Pinheiro spoke in favor of reducing the number of reores is to 18,000. Deputy Athayde Junior offered an amendment to the bill fixing the number of recruits to be furnished by every state for filling the ranks of the army. The total number to be thus furnished is 3,000, distributed as follows: Amazonas, 56; Pará 193; Maradha. 99; Flantinyba, 71; Pernambuco, 21; Alagoas, 85; Sergipe, 57; Balia, 31; Espirito Santo, 56; Kio de Janeiro, 24; S. Paulo, 31; Parana, 57; Santa Chabrina, 57; Rio Grande do Norte, 57; Parályba, 71; Pernambuco, 24; Mato Grosso, 56; Federal District, 142. Deputy Epitacio in speaking on the ammesty bill made some statements in regard to the transactions between the government and the Banco da Republica. The boan of £300.00 made by the government to that bonk had, he said, been guaranteed by a deposi of 6,000.000 in government bonds. The government had asked Rothschilds if they were willing to honor drains of the Banco da Republica. The banker had answered that the balances at his disposal were intended to pay interest on the Brazilian debt. To this Barafo de Lucena made no rejoinder, and subsequently Rothschilds expressed their willingness to honor the Bank's drafts if they were guaranteed by the government. The minister, however, had then changed his mind, Hissolject had been to prevent the fall of exchange.

The munster, however, had then changed his mind. His object had been to prevent the fall of exchange.

JUNE 28,—80006—The bill regulating the declaration of martial law was voted in 3rd discussion. The Senate rejected the amendment exempting members of Congress and judges of the supreme. Court from the effects of martial law. Chamber of Departies,—continuing his speech of the previous day, Departy Epitacio Pesson analysed the evidence against the political prisoners. He sold that Sergeant Silvino failed to recognize Gen. Almorida Brareto's photograph and described him as tall, portly, and wearing a full beard. The opposition had not intended to overfrow the President by force of arms. It was their intention on the meeting of Congress to return his message, not recognizing him as President. So the frops would esponse the Juwe 29.—Neither house had a quorum, but in the Chamber of Deputies before the roll was called several speeches were made, among them one by Deputy Belanmino de Mendonga appealing to the majority to hasten the discussion of the amnesty bill. In this speech he referred to the following passage in one of President Ploriano Petxon's telegrants to Gen. Bernardo Visiques: "The enemies of our country who have the hardlined to bondard with shot and shell marmed and peace-tail city, are unworthy of the name of Braillans and classequently do not does the slightest indulgance or consideration." If such are the President's sentiments, said the speaker, how indignant he must have fet with the heard of the bondardment of Cearci.

bombardment of Ceara! J. The 50.—Senator Elysen Martins made a protectionist speech and moved for information in regard to the amount of gold in the treasury and the treasury agency in London on November 30th, and in regard to the recent loan of £1,000,000. Senators Amaro Cavaleanti, Taxures Eastos and America Lobo spoke on the bill interpreting Art. 72 § 2 of the constitution.

Chamber of Deputies.—The Chamber received a message from the President remitting the estimates for 1893. The revenue is estimated at 13,000,000$ and the expenditure at 211,009,021$600. Deputy Arthur Rios declared that he resigned his place as member of the budget committee. He said that he had found it impossible to perform in a satisfactory manner the duties of this position, because the government failed to furnish the necessary information. The minister of the inte ior, in his conference with the committee, had displayed utter ignorance of the affairs of his department. Deputy Valladão in a speech on the army bill alluded in such a manner-to the manifesto of the 13 general officers as to draw forth sharp retorts from opposition deputies, and the discussion in a little while became so sternuy that the president suspended the sitting. Fifteen minutes afterwards the house was again called to order and the speaker resumed his speech. He culogized the conduct of Chamber the Chamber thet, I on that day the general had given orders to attack the troops under Decodor's command, he would have had many comrades ready to die for him. The speaker, who on that occasion on minuted 500 men, was ready to fight, if Floriano had ordered him to do so. Deputy Erico Coelho spoke on the aumesty bill.

JULY 1.—Senate.—The special committee appointed to report on the bill for occasions the to fight, if Floriano had ordered him to do so. Deputy Erico Coelho spoke on the annesty bill.

JULY 1.—Schalt.—The special committee appointed to report on the bill for organizing the Federal District reported in favor of retaining the amendments rejected by the Chamber of Deput'es. Chamber of Deput'es. There was received a telegram from the Associação Commercial of Rio Grande do Sul opposing the bill for the issue of bonds in aid of trade and industry. The Associação says that the factories that, with the present high tariff and low rate of exchange, are unable to maintain themselves, possess no elements of vitality. A petition was received from the Club dos Funccionarios Publicos Federaes asking that at least half of the salaries of public employés be paid in gold. Deputies Demetric Ribeiro and Cassiano do Nascimento spoke on affairs in Rio Grande do Su', the former asserting that the federal troops had interfered in those affairs and the latter contending that the action of the President had been strictly correct. The former moved that Congress, after consulting the committee on the constitution, should take such action as is required by the interests of peace, of state autonomy and of the republic. Deputy Erico Coelho concluded his speech on the amnesty bill. The war and navy committee reported in favor of the amendment of Deputy Athayde Junior, fixing the number of troops shall not be increased over 20,000. It also reported favorably on the amendment of Deputy Athayde Junior, fixing the number of troops to be furnished by each state for filling up the ranks of the army.

As this gentleman is a depuny to the national congress and president of the Chember, we shall wait with much interest his action in regard to holding several offices at the same time.

—Some one has been deceiving immigrants in São Paulo by selling them tickets to Buenos Aires by a steamsaip line which does not exist. It would seem that Bazil is now fairly overrum by speculators of this character. Is it not time that the police and judicial authorities should begn to punish these rogues as they deserve?

—A telegram from São Paulo says that it is proposed to prosecute the editors of the Italian journal Roma, of Santos, because of the "insuls launched at the constituted powers." Better think twice, and then not do it! The Santos "constituted" enjoy too bad a reputation for any such attempt. There is no insult in denouncing a public outrage.

--A São Paulo telegram of the 28th says that the pilice corps and federal force in that city had been held in their barracks ready for orders, because of a report that a group of turbulent characters intended to make a manifestation against the governor. The delays and annoyances suffered by the public are simply indescribable. The mud is allowed to overflow the rails, the trams slip off into the deep mud, and then the passengers stand around from a quarter to half an hour, shive ing and exclaiming "quevergonha?" Of course one man and a stout hoe would remedy all this in a very short time, but the company lacks either the means or common business tact to have it done—and so the long-suffering public is left to flounder in the mud.

She had been visiting a private house where she vomited needles, hair, black powder, and other equally strange things for a human being to carry around in the stonach. Five giels in the house were so frightened by the ethibition that they appear to have all gone into violent hysicrics. The priest was called in, and the old imposter said that they had devils in them, and the girls are now said to be quite insane. In the meantime Mary of the Cross was arrested, and when interrogated by the police she begon vomiting needles and hair yagain. It was noted, however, that the needles were new and bright. She is now spending a few days in prison.

RIOTS IN SÃO PAULO.

The irritation and bad feeling caused by the police attacks on Italian sailors in the port of Sautos last month, culminated in a riotous outbreak in the city of São Paulo on Sautoraly last. A public meeting was beld by the Italian colony in the Praça de Paysandti in the afterwont to protest against the police attack on the Italian steamer Mentana in Sautos, which passed off without any disturbance. Subsequently a procession of excited men was organized which paraded the streets giving morrae to Brazil and vieaz to Italy, Garibaldi, etc. About 5 p. m. they tore down a Brazilian flag at the Cafe Terraço, where a trifling fight occurred. The police and a mob of excited citzens then attacked the rioters, who retreated to the Italian quarter about the Ladeira do Paques. Later in the evening a severe fight occurred this point resulting in several killed and wounded. The Italians were finally driven out of the houses in which they had taken refuge, many were eagured and imprisoned, but the greater part effected their escape.

tured and imprisoned, but the greater problem is their escape.

During the evening the printing office of the Italian journal Roma, which had been most active in denouncing the Mentana outrage, was attacked and destroyed, as was also an Italian restaurant from which shots had been fired. There was intense excitement for a time, but the disorder was eventually suppressed and the city was kept under a strong police patrol.

On Monday there were occasional alarms, but no disorder beyond a few personal altercations. It is charged that the police are attacking inoftensive Italians who took no part in the riot, but this as yet lacks confirmation. The conflict is destined to do a great deal of harm, as it has aroused a national animosity which will easily lead to future trouble. Had the Sautos authorities acted justly in regard to the attacks on Italian sailors there, his riot would not have occurred. One wrong has thus led to another from which serious consequences may result.

RAILROAD NOTES

—The Mogyana line suspended freight traffic on the 26th ult. for want of coal. This means an enormous loss to the road and to the people. Surely something must now be done to facilitate traffic at Santos!

—It is said that the freight traffic on the S. Paulo railways is so blocked that the Norte station at S. Paulo is full of merchandise. It is no credit to the railways of this country that a small increase in traffic should throw the whole lot of them into bounders confiner.

—The railway companies of São Paulo have granted gratutious transportation for all exhibits destined for the Chicago Exposition. The S. Paulo railway has also offered a large storage-room at the Laz station in S. Paulo for the deposit of exhibits and, if tume permits, for a preliminary exposition.

—The public works and colonization commission of the Chamber has reported favorably on the proposal to double the S. Paulo line and to add a narrow gauge track in conformity with the statement presented by the superintendent of that line. The same commission also agrees to the Mogyana proposal to extend that line to Santos.

proposal to extend that line to Santos.

—The board of directors of the Macahé and Campos railway has issued a report, dated March 8, 1892, for the fiscal year ended June 30, 1891. According to this report the receipts of the road during that year were 1,979,389,8621 and the operating expenses 1,343,7013,468. Of 60,000 shares of the company 38,131 are in the name of the Companhia Leopoldina.

—On the 1st inst, there was a narrow escape on the Mogyana line, a sleeper having been placed on the track at kilometre 233, at the place where diverse laborers were arrested as accomplices in robberies of merchandise. The engineer discovered the obstruction in time to avoid a serious accident. If the scounderls are canglut who prepared this obstruction, they should be punished without mercy.

sportation in S. Paulo.

—For some time the Mogyana company—or its patrons—have been the victims of extensive robberies. The Diario de Campinas of the 29th announces the discovery of a robbery on a train for Ribeirão Preto, in which five employés of the company were concerned. The thieves were arrested and confessed the crime. The laborers on that section were also arrested for receiving the goods dropped from the train.

that section were also arrested for receiving the goods dropped from the train.

—There was a serious accident on the Cantagallo section of the Leopoldian railway on the morning of the 29th ult, just out of Nichteroy, the express train running into a train on a siding at the Ganaxindiba station. A neglected switch was of course the cause. Both locomotives were ladly damaged, and a brakeman had both legs crashed and will probably lose his life. These cases of negligence are becoming too frequent altogether!

—One of the writers for the Diario Popular of São Paulo took a ride over the Ituana railway a few days ago, and after various delays, accidents and escapes, writes that whoever proposes to make a trip over that line should take out a passport for the other world. The track is in a wretched condition, the locomotives are old and out of order, breaking down every day, the cars are bad and in-sufficient, and the employés are too few in number to do the work. The trains are always behind time, derailments are frequent, the breaks are always out of order, and accidents are frequent.

—On the 29th ult, the minister of agriculture ordered that freight should be received at the three ordered that freight should be received at the three ordered that freight should be received at the three ordered that freight should be received at the three ordered that for the second of the same and the properties of the condition of the same properties of the free ordered that freight should be received at the three ordered that free ordered that free ordered that great and the same and the condition of the same and the sam always out of order, and accidents are frequent.

—On the 29th ult. the minister of agriculture ordered that height should be received at the three stations of this city from 6 a.m. to midday. Who cannot the railway authorities do here as they do in the United States? Let all the merchandise be discharged into a railway storehouse as fast as received, and then let the work of dispatching go on all day, the packages being moved from one storehouse to another as fast as they are dispatched. It may require more room, but is it not worth the expense? The item of second and third cartage is a heavy one to business men and should be saved if possible.

It is not necessary for a respectable man to turn rowdy because an ignorant fellow calls him a few bad names.

—There was a great many disturbing rumors afloat on Saturday in regard to Rio Grande affairs, to the effect that the Germans had joined the Tavares faction, and that a force of the latter was marching on Porto Alegre. The Diario Official of the next morning denies all the reports and says that official telegrams report everything quiet in Porto Alegre. In the meantime the telegraph is closed to the public and no one knows anything about the movements of Gen. Tavares. The neutrality of the government is apparently of the usual kind and character.

—A São Paulo telegram of the 28th says that the financial situation in that state is becoming very difficult for business because of the rectention of revenue in the treasury. Steps have been taken to induce the state government to deposit its revenue halances in various local banks for the benefit of commerce.

The revenue of the state of Pará during the half-year ended June 30th amounted to 3,500,000$.

The bonded indebtedness of the United States has been decreased by about $35,000,000 during the past year, and amounted to about $585,000,000 on the 30th ult.

—The Treasury appears decided to pay, with its own gold cheques, the gold interest due the Banco da Republica. On the 2nd a reply of the minister of finance to an application of the bank, that a part of a payment be male in gold was published: "the cheques to which the applicant refers were issued by it, and only represent specie in gold."

—We regret to note that the meeting of the Companhia Frigorifica on the 30th was cold and storny. Some of the sharcholders talked very bolisterously about the administration. It was finally resolved to accept the annual report and the capital was then reduced to 18,000,000$. In our opinion it should have been reduced to 18 vintees, which would have been a genuine "freeze out."

—In the report of the directors of the Amazon Steam Navigation company they say: "The board has been in communication by letter and telegraph with the agents of the Empreza itself in Rio Janeiro, and various suggestions have been made on behalf of the latter, but no definite proposal has been in a top, hours to the shareholders and to a fund to build new steamers. This is a sample of Sr. Buarque de Macedo's "add to industries," for it aids those of Great Britain!

—During an illness a short time ago an accident with a candle set fire to some papers on a table and partly burned two notes of 500 reis belonging to us. One was about a third and the other about half burned, but in both cases the numbers remained and the charred edges showed that no fraud was possible. We sent these notes to the redemption bureau a few days ago, where the treasury employés refused peremutatify to exchange them. We can of course afford to lose a milreis, but in our opinion no honest, self-respecting government can afford so bare-faced a repudiation as this. The monarchy never refused notes possessing their numbers, but the republic apparently repudates everything.

THE BUDGET.

The estimated general receipts and expenditures for the year 1893 as recommended by the minister of finance, were presented to the Chamber of Deputies on June 30th. The receipts, which include 3,500,0005 of deposits and 4,770,0005 of eventual receipts in the shape of payments on annuities, indemnities, fines, interest, lotteries, etc., are estimated at 213,000,000$\, vii.\, i Brokess report a fairly satisfactory movement in the market, except for Flour, the stock of which is larger than ever before known in the trade, and sathough questions are not changed, there must be a break in piece, or a decided deterioration in no recipies of pine, but White is reported to be flat Kerosene and Lard are unchanged and steady. Nice continues to come in freely, and the market is reported rather firmer, owing probably to the doubtful exchange market. The principal feature in Coeffish is a sharp advance in Norwegian, upon which the demand now principally must; prices are now at a which the demand now principally must; prices are now at a of River Plate bran has arrived, but so far we have not heard its sale. Cern and Hay, opether with Centent are includingly, while Rosin is quoted rather lower. The receipts of Coal are again very small. Exchange has been seriously affected by the Kio Gronde political "squabbles," which all should not minestitute interest to the real commerce of the country, series as a speciet to probleme fluctuations in the variety of the property in the base of the country, series as a speciet to probleme fluctuations in the variety and the property in the property.

In dyspepsia the stomach fails to assimilate the food. The Acid Phosphate assists the weakened stomach, making the process of digestion natural and easy.

digestion natural and easy.
Dr. A. G. Rawson Harris, L. R. C. P. and M. R. C. S., "The Elms," Pembroke, Eng., says: "I used it in a case of nervous dyspepsia, of long standing, where for years there had been a great wear and tear of the nervous system. This objectionable symptom was speedily relieved in a way that no other remedy has ever effected."
