— The people of this city have so completely lost all interest in municipal matters, and have so thoroughly abandoned all hope of an improvement in municipal manners, that a recent political evolution in the municipal body itself has evoked no comment outside of purely political circles. The corporation, from the date of its election, has been divided into two pretty equally balanced factions, which have fought each other with tenecity, and at times with ferocity, for the possession of power. This power, this good of edilic ambition, is supposed to exist in the offices of the mayor and sub-mayors. To attain this good the Municipality has been, and still is, divided into two bands of implacable foes. Seats have been declared vacant, new elections, to be in turn contested in the courts of law, have taken place, but the two hostile, nearly evenly balanced factions continued to exist with deplorable consequences to the city. Quite recently, however, one of the ediles, who had obtained considerable motoriety as being one of the fiercest of his faction, whether through remorse for past comportment or with an eye to future election is not quite clear, changed sides, and, as consequence, the attitude of the members towards each other has been considerably whether the considerable of faction fights, but, owing to what is termed in edilic parlance as political evolution, ai thas at length been effected, and the three posts of mayor and sub-mayors. —We were pleased to receive copies of our esteemed contemporary, The Southern Cross of Buenos Aires by the Cryde, which we had missed for a few weeks. The marriage of Mr. G. Anderson of the staff of Messrs Wilson, Sons and Co, of this city and Miss Hooper was celebrated at Holy Trinity Church on Wednesday afternoon, and was a quiet but pretty wedding. The bride looked remyrkably pretty in the traditional white and orange blossoms, and was accompanied by two charming brides-maids, Miss Cooper and Miss Harley. In the absence of the bride's father through illness, she was given away by her brother Mr. David Hooper, Mr. Dunbra acted as best man and Mr. Weir Reid as groomsman. Mr. G. Lloyd Davies officiated at the organ in his usual masterly style. The church was crowded with friends of the fair and popular bride, the fair sex predominating. After a short honeymoon in the camp, says 'the Montevideo Times, the newly married couple, to whom we wish every happiness, will reside at Belgrano, Bnenos Aires.

—Our contemporary the Buenos Aires of La Plata has started a professional beauty competition, similar to what was carried out a few years ago in London. The newspaped on this occasion requires that readers shall send in the names of those who are considered the most beautiful in La Plata, the fair lady to whom the most votes are given in this respect to receive a prize of some sort with the privilege of seeing her name in print, with a host of others although it must be borne in mind that the votes will be sent in by the stern sex and the ladies will have no voice in the matter, and will not be asked whether they would like to figure in the competition or not. It remains to be seen how this notion will be accepted here, but one thing is certain that there is sure to be a little heart-burning whatever the results may be, for jealousy will no doubt play a very active part in the matter. For our part, we consider the whole proceeding to be an insult to the fair sex. — Times, Buenos Aires.
—It is announced officially that when General Roca assumes the presidency, on the 12th of nextmonth, he will by special decree authorize the formation and general muster of an Italian legion 20,000 strong. Captain Dielese, the organizer of the legion, is making final arrangements to get his men together. The legion will be organized on a plan entirely different to that of the Argentine army. This island of Tristan d'Acunha, with its 60 inhabitants, is about to be visited by H. M. S. "Thrush," and the philanthropic public is informed that the vessel will convey to the islanders any parcel not weighing more than 11 lb, at the rate of 8d. a pound. A lot of useful things for a belated population can be packed into a parcel of that weight, but the chief requirements of the d'Acunhans are a cure for rats and a cure for souls. There is no minister on the island, but it is overrun with rats. In face of the weight limitation, which seems prohibitive in the case of a really good minister, those who wish to benefit the islanders must do so with rat poison or terriers.—Financial News, Sept. 16.

To the 1-dr: of the "Rio Netes"

Dear Sir, — I lelt it in y duty, some time ago, to address a few remarks to you on the subject of the projected attempt of the Mogyama fillibusters to run the blockade of the Sao Paulo Railway Company's privileged zone, from Jundiaby to Santos. Since then, the peculiar, moral obliquity of vision which notoriously characterises the Mogyama Railway Company where other company's "zones" are concerned, has received a new and striking illustration.

are concerned, has received illustration.

The Mogyana Company, having, more than 15 years ago, opened to traffic their station of Lage. in invasion of the zone rights of the Paulista Company, closed the same station on 25th ultimo, in defiance of a government inhi-

Lage, in invasion of the zone rights of the Paulista Company, closed the same station on 25th ultimo, in defance of a government inhibition.

The attention of many of your readers must already have been drawn to this dispute; but, as the public is usually too busy to read what conserns it most, and is often obliged to any one who will undertake this duty on its behalf. I think, perhaps, a few notes of an explanatory clearacter, regarding the issues involved in this conflict, may not be wholly unwelcome. If the reader agree with this, let him take a good railway map, and, beginning at Campinas, run his finger along the (broad gauge) miss of the Paulista Co., till it reaches Pirassununga. Then let him hark back to Campinas, and follow the Mogyana's (narrow gauge) road, till it reaches Casa Branca. At the latter station he will note that the latter line diverges sharply to the left, till it touches Lage station.

comfort, in substitution of narrow gauge delays and misery.

For six years, or more, this modus vivendi continued to exist; and, as a natural consequence in sorich a stretch of country, reciprocal commercial interests of great importance sprang up between the districts served by the rival lines. During last year 40,000 passengers represented the 12 months traffic of Lage station.

spraing up between the districts served by the rival lines. During last year 40,000 passengers represented the 12 months traffic of Lage station.

Still the solution of railroad continuity between Loge and Sta. Veridiana was found very inconvenient to through travellers; while heavy merchandise could not be got over it at all. The troily drivers were—troily drivers. They drove their best, no doubt; but what they drove were troilies—and hard bargains! And now occurred one of those astounding coincidences which seem to prove that truth is stranger than fiction. The few hundred metres of land between the stations of Lage and Sta. Veridiana became, by purchase, the property of the president of the Paulista Company!

Very soon, as was to be expected, the new owner of the land in question found the traffic, as carried on by trolles across his property, an intolerable annoyance. Nevertheless, far from exercising his seigneurial rights in the direction of closing the communication as far as his land was concerned, he resolved, in the most public-spirited manner, to make it at once less troublesome and more efficient. To this end he established, or permitted the establishment of, a line of bonds between points in the vicinity of the two stations; and of these the through travellers deligitudly availed themselves. The trolly drivers, finding their occupation gone, vanished like the devils in the "Creations" chorus, amid a shower of curses.

But this proceeding on the part of the

But this proceeding on the part of the Paulista president fluttered the Mogyana Volsciaus with a vengeance. They, who are always ready to play the enckoo in their neighbour's nests—to pitch their gypsy camps in other people's woods—were scandalised at what they professed to consider a breach of the law, when it seemed to tell against themselves.

what they proceed to tell against themselves.

The owner of the debetrable ground, —said they, —had no right to construct, without government licence, a bond line over his land in such circumstances. Such construction constituted a breach of Law No. 30, of 13th June, 1892, Art. 2 and 30, § nuico.

The fool of an Act says, a affirmed they, what any line of bonds which forms a junction with a railway, must itself be considered as a state railway, requiring a special government licence for its installation »; and such licence had admittedly not been obtained by the constructor of the Lage—Sta. Veridiana bond line.

The reply of the president to this objection could and explicit as was that of land, thu his mage, thou was a back to Campans, and follow the Mogyana's (narrow gauge) road, till it reaches Casa Branca. At the latter station he will not that the latter line diverges sharply to the left, till it touches Lage station.

Now Lage station, as the use of the scale of distance given on the map, —if correct — will at once make plain, is far less than 34 kineters from the nearest point of the Paulista line; and is, therefore, well inside of the latter company's zone.

In any case the measurements relied on arrhose taken, in happer days, by the distinguished engineer who now holds the position of Inspector General of the Mogyana; and I cannot find that the Mogyana Company makes any serious attempt to contest the lact of the mosalon, apparently regarding its own zone pivilege contract as an instrument conferring on it the privilege of invading other companies.

The maranding station of Lage, then, was pensed to traffic, in spite of energetic protests addressed by the Paulista Company, alike to the Mogyana squatters and to the government, and equally ignored by both.

In 1894, or about mue years after the establishment of the intrusive station of Lage, then, was offered. The position was provided to act in its own defence. The Davids of the provided to act in its own defence. The Davids of the provided to act in its own defence. The Davids of the provided to act in its own defence. latter hold the concession. The Mogyana directors rule the roost. They can open and shut stations, as they would snuff boxes, or pocket knives, along the whole length of their line, be the damage to business and property what it may; and none may presume to call them to account. Their concession is a privilege to "expores the public, not to serve it. It is-theirs to command; it is for the public to pay and obey. Such is, their bond Of course if the law allow it, and the court award it, the public must kiss the rod. But whether this interpretation be a correct one, remains to be seen. The government, by ordering the re-opening of Lage station, imposing a fine on the Mogyana Company of 100,000 for each dry during which the station remains closed, and by following this up with the threat of further action according to law, in case of non-compliance, seems to have begun well. It is to be hoped that it still holds in reserve, in given circumstances, and in the last resort, at least, the power to withdraw its charter from this company, which so eynically sets at nought both private right and public authority.

In the meantime, the quarrel is a very pretty quarrel as it stands.

Whether, or no, the Mogyana invaders, having come for wool, will go back shorn; whether, or no, the government will maintain its present firm and dignified attitude, protecting by its power the rights of the public it represents; or will in the end, endorse the arrogant pretensions of an association of financial speculators to set up an imperium in imperio,—or worse still, in republica—in which everything is to be made subordinate to private schemes and intrigues—are questions whose solution, especially at the present juncture, will be watched with close attention, not only by capitalists both here and abroad, but by all who take an interest in the progress and prosperity of Brazil.

I am, dear Sir, Vourstruly,

I am, dear Sir,

Yours truly.

THE ILL-FATEDHAPSBURCS.

Apropos of the tragic death of the Empress Elizabeth of Austria, the Daily Mail gives the following record of the Hapsburg family in recent years:—The house of Hapsburg is remarkable as being one of the most nufortunate of reigning families. The Crown Prince died a violent death at Mayerling in 1889. The Duchess d'Alencon, sister of the Empress Elizabeth, was burnt to death in Paris last year. The Emperor Maximilian of Mexico lost his throne and was shot at Queretaro in 1867. The Archduke Johann, who dropped his ducal title and served as a common seaman, was drowned off the coast of Brazil. The Archduches Matilda was accidentally burnt to death. Prince Louis of Trani committed suicide by throwing himself into the sea. The Archduke Ladislaus was shot while humling. To these must be added the fate of two cousins of the Empress, King Louis II of Bavaria, who committed suicide, and the present King Otto, who is confined in a lunatic asylum.

CONFIDENCE in the efficiency of the Brazilian funding scheme will not be strengthened by an examination of the estimates for 1895 that have been drawn up by the minister of finance; for these show that even with the help of the moratorium the government is still unable to make ends meet. The revenue for the year is set down at $341,161,000, and the expenditure at $346,000,000, thus leaving a deficit of $1,836,000, which it is proposed to cover by a draft upon the savings bank deposits. A SPECIMEN OF RAILWAY EXPENDITURE AND A LESSON FOR BONDIDOLDERS.

When the sovereign remedy for the lils of Brazilian finance was declared to be the leasing of the Cantal railway. The Financial News, while admitting the value of the line, stated that it was a 'hot-bed of nepotism.' The expression, and our general policy on the subject of the lease, disturbed some of the pro-Brazilian organs, but time has shown pretty conclusively who was in the right.

As a further contribution to the subject, the following narrative from a São Paulo newspaper is worth quoting. The line referred to is not the Central railway, but is run in much the sune way. 'Some time ago,' says our contemporary, 'a general was sent to one of the northern states to investigate the management of a government railroad. He belonged to the set of men who had made themselves obnoxious by their endeavors in the service of reform, and here are some of his experiences: The very first day he found in one of the rooms of a railroad station a strong young min who was doing nothing. Thinking the young fellow had come to see him, he asked: 'Do you wish anvilling, my friend?' 'No, sir; I am employed here. 'Si 'What are your duties?' 'I have to fill the water jugs in the office every day.' The general was a little astomashed. In the next room he discovered another able-hodied young man smoking a cigarette. 'Are you an employé?' he asked 'Yes, sr. I am the assistant of the guitteen in the next room.'

"But that was nothing to what was to come. The general had already been informed that the road employed it's night experiences while only eight were working. He ordered that in future these men should at least take turn about. S. PAULO COFFEE ESTATES COMPANY.

This company, which was formed in June of last year, held its first ordinare annual general meeting at the London offices, 57 ½ Old Brood Street. Mr. Henry F. Tiarks (chairman of the Board of directors) presiding.

The chairman in the course of his address to the sharcholders, when moving the adoption of the report and accounts, began by applogising for the delay in calling the meeting, which was occasioned by the necessity of having to send out an experienced representative to put the books in the form required by English law and the rules of the Stock Exchange. This had now been properly done, and he hoped the shareholders would find the report before them satisfactory. The produce for the year 1597 was estimated by the directors at $0,000 arrobas, but he was pleased to tell them that the actual crop amounted to $9,000 arrobas, but he was pleased to tell them that the actual crop amounted to $9,000 arrobas, thus amply proving how carefully the estimates of their agents had been made. He, however, went on to say that their calculations at optice had been considerably upset by the turn prices had taken during the year. When the prospectus was issued the price of coffee was supposed to have touched hottom, being then 56, but before the end of the season, contrary to all expectations, prices had declined to $6, od. the lowest figure that has been touched since 1848, when political troubles and disturbances disorganised all trade. But although the net receipts were below their estimate for the year, yet he was pleased to inform them that owing to the excellent quality of the coffee produced and the steadness with which it was disposed of without waiting for improvement, satisfactory prices under the circumstances we'e realised. The receipts after paying the cost of administration, initial expenditure consequent on the first year of working, the punch se and setting up of new machinery, etc., were yet sufficient to pay the interest on the elongation of the company, and show the p

A countryman walked into a Western newspaper office to advertise the death of a relative. "What is your charge?" he asked of the clerk. "We charge $2 an inch." "Oh!" sold the countryman, "I can't afford that. My friend was six feet three inches."

I picked up two delicious literary curiosities during my stay in Ireland. The following notice was posted in a pleasure boat belonging to a steamship company on the Suir: "The chairs in the cabin are for the ladies. Gentlemen are requested not to make use of them till the ladies are seated." This time I was in the coun ry just after the visit of the Duke and Duchess of York. I clipped the following delicious advertisement from a Kingstown paper: "James O'Mohony, wine and spirit merchant, Kingstown, has still on hands a small quantity of the whiskey which was drunk by the Duke of York while in Dublin."

According to an American consular report a consignment of cocoanuts was sent from Paraguay to London in April sent from raraguay to London in Applials, and realised a net profit of $1.69 per cwt. They sell in the London market at from £ 11.5s. to £ 11.10s per ton and are considered very saleable because of their richness in oil. If now cocoanuts can be sent from Paraguay, five or six days by steamer inland from nive or six days by sceamer maind from Buenos Aires, to Europe and sold at a profit, why can not Brazil initiate trade in the same product. This country manifestly needs a larger income, and as cocoanuts can be produced in unlimas coconints can be produced in the minimum of cost, it would seem good policy to arrange for their exportation. Then there are their exportation. Then there are many fruits which ought to be staple articles of export and contribute to the wealth of the country. If the Per-nambuco pineapple were properly intro-duced on the London market and then transported with care, it could not fail to bring special prices and prove a lucrative article of commerce. In the United States, California fruits are ship-In the ped across the country, and are even sent across the Atlantic, while Florida oranges have become a staple export. Brazilian oranges are equal to the best and ought to find as good a market. It only needs a little enterprise and public spirit, at the outset, for the trade will protect itself when once established. When we see Australian fruits and vegetables shipped to the London mar-kets, we marvel at the apathy which prevails here on such matters. This country could produce an unlimited quantity of fruits and vegetables for the old world, and it could not fail to be profitable.

THE Jornal do Commercio of Sunday calls attention to the scandalous conduct of deputies who prevent the dispatch of business by leaving the chamber without a quorum. For three or four times last week the chamber was unable to vote on important matters because of an insufficient number being present. And yet we are now in the third prorogation and all these absentees are drawing full pay! When will congress learn that the only cure for such scandalous abuses is to pay for actual attendance, and nothing more!

TELEGRAMS from London report that great activity still continues at Antwerp and Hamburg in the shipment of arms and munitions to Argentina and Chili, and it is the impression there that both nations are determined on war. It is ruinous enough to both of them to continue these costly preparations, but it will be sure ruin if they actually go to war. Neither of them is in a position to strike a decisive blow at once, consequently the war will be sufficiently prolonged to burden them with debt beyond all hope of repayment. Though the richest and most populous of the two, Argentina is the least prepared, and her Calle Florida soldiers and sollors will certainly get a very rough handling at the outset. The country has plenty of good material, lowever, and when the incapacity of her political soldiers have been fully demonstrated, it may be considered certain that good men will be found to meet the emergency. But the mischief for both countries will have been done by that time, and victory on either side will not save the country from irretrievable disaster. We hope that the reports are not correct, but there is only too much evidence to the contrary.

THE speeches made at the celebration of the birthday of President Prudente de Moraes on last Tuesd y emplasized the indisputable fact that the President in quitting office is leaving the country in a far better political situation than that in which he found it. And there is no doubt that, in spite of many mistakes of himself and others, his good intentions would have accomplished much more in this respect and would even have enabled him to improve the financial situation, if the army of the country, instead of being what it is, had been composed of a small body of well disciplined officers and men, devoted exclusively to their military duties. But as long as the army continues to be a political factor, permanent political and financial improvement with will not cease to be problematical.

The measure recently presented to congress for making the national printing office self-supporting will unquestionably command general sympathy. What the remedies will be wed on ot know, but we presume that one of them will be the suppression of a part, if not all, of the gratuitous work done in that public establishment. It would be incredible that such a printing-office could not pay expenses, were it not for the volume of work done free of cost. It pays no duties, nor rents, nor taxes; and it receives unofficial work in competition with offices paying all these tributes and expenses. Were it not for its free list, it ought to be able to crush private competition, for it is grossly and inexcusably unfair. However, if the office is to be made self-supporting, it must be pain for its work, even with all these advantages. Some time since, an opposition senator asserted that one of our local evening newspapers was having its work done free at this office, and it may be that there are still other favors of that description to be accounted for. And it was only last week that the formal do Commercio denounced the publication of a pampilet on viticulture in the same class.

THE STR ANCERS MOSETAL

THE STRANGERS' HOSPITAL.

Editor, RIO NEWS.

Editor, Rio Niws.

Sir.—As you will divine from my pasteboard, the most interesting part of your papers aboard to me, outside the telegrams from home, was whate A Nursee had to say about your, local hospital management. In my opinion, your managers are incapable if that nurse is correct in her statements, and I take it she knows what she is writing about. My advice to the people who pay the piper (and I suppose it is a voluntary contribution hospital without government help) would be to sack the whole shoot.

Please send to the enclosed address as many copies of your paper as the bill now sent will cover.

The Editor of THE RIO NEWS.

Sir.—I see the question of the Strangers' Hospital is still occupying the attention of your readers, and in a spirit of fair play I should like to ask your readers to suspend their judgment on the matron's conduct until she has had an opportunity to defend herself. It is not right to decide on the exparte statements of less responsible nurses who are evidently writing with the fine feminine malice we men cannot feel, and from a probably unfounded sense of wrong. Andi: alteram partem is a good rule which appeals to all fair minded men. When the responsible matron tells her side of the question we shall be better able to form an opinion.

Yours truly,

FAIRPLAY.

Rio, 7th October, 1898,

To the Editor

Dear Sir.—I waited to see if the matron or her Quixotic champion would reply to the serious allegations made against the matron by nurses who had served under her, in the RIO NEWS of the 27th ulto. Miss Gims accused the matron of «daily and hourly petty tyranny, » and impugned the directors for ignoring written complaints «signed by the whole nursing staff.» Miss Chawner accused the secretary of «discourtesy» which forced her to leave the Hospital in spite of Dr. Bandeira's protest. Another nurse not only made charges against the matron of sullying their good names but still more specific charges of meanness and unscruptlonsuess in the serious matter of disinfection. And yet you, sir, who should know better, describe all these matters as "petty annoyances" Had Mr. Roberts used the expression, I should have put 'it on a par with his notion of soverkindness, but coming from you I was surprised, not to say disgusted. When two whole st tifs have been driven away from the Strangers' Hospital by conduct on the part of the matron which to their womanly sense was dishonour, to their professional sense was death-dealing, and to their ideas as lady employées in a sickly foreign land was degrading to self-respect, you, a practised writer, can find no better expression for all this than spetty annoyances. I could supply you with more suitable terms, although I am no journalist. Mind you, sir, and let your readers mind it too, that those nurses were all English ladies engaged in the noblest profession known to more the relief of suffering humanity; and if the matron was so lost to all professional pride as to forget the fact, then the directors should have been gentlemen enough to recognise it. In no other hospital in British hands on the face of God's world has such a state of things been revealed and I hope the nursing journals in England and the States will take the matter up. Our dilethauli directors evidently do not comprehend the very A. B. C. of their duties, and if spetty tyrannys and ignoring directors can deplete two expensively engaged nursing staffs in four years, then the subscribers at the long deferred meeting should rescue the Hospital from destruction by appointing a committee to make a searching investigation not only into the charges against the matron, but also as to the way in which the directors plants.

Yours respectfully,

SUBSCRIBER.

Rio, 10th October, 1898.

My dear Sir.—I am glad this question has turned up in the wiy it has, although I cannot say I agree altogether with you or with "Subscribers." I know Miss Jackson and I know all the marses you mention. I liked them all very much, and with very good reason. If you will forgive me saying so—or should I say writing so—I know as much of the ins and outs of the matter as the next person, because I have heard all sides. Miss Jackson may not have been as pleasant as she might have been, but she has arrived at years of discretion and possibly she thought it well to keep a good eye on the younger and more giddy nurses committed to her care. For that reason I do not agree with the first part of "A Nurse's letter, and I think if any complaint was to be made against her for want of disinfection, it ought to have been made to the doctor who was the best judge and not to the directors who ought to have been made to the doctor who was the best judge and not to the directors who know little or nothing about it. If what "A Narses says about the disinfection is correct, it is a terrible thing—too terrible to think of. But it cannot be true, or surely the doctor would have taken some measures to prevent it happening again. The doctor has said nothing as far as I have heard, and that is a point in Miss Jackson's favour. If anything happened to my own children I would nurse them myself at home, while God gives me health and strength, but I must reluctantly say that I would tremble to hear of any of my boys' young friends going to the hospital until that disinfection business is cleared up.

I am, dear Sir,

Yours very truly

A MOTHER

Our correspondents will now permit us to discontinue the publication of further letters on this subject at this time—always excepting, of course, any statements which the directors, matron and nurses may wish to make, and also excepting a letter sent us some days ago from Pará. Our object in opening our columns has been to call attention to complaints and abuses which the directors have thus far carefully suppressed. We regret the occasion of this more deeply, perhaps, than the great majority of our readers, but it has seemed to us both a duty and a necessity. We may rever to the subject editorially next week, should circumstances require it, but in the meantime we would recommend our correspondents to attend the annual meeting, when it is summoned, and there insist on a full discussion of the matter. The Hospital is a public institution, and the directors can not refuse to give every satisfaction, nor do we believe they will wish to do so. It is not a matter for personal antagonisms, nor for acrimonious dispute. The directors believe they are right in maintaining the matron and in declining complaints. But they are fair-minded men and will not deny to others the right to think differently.

We are just in receipt of a telegram from Pará, signed by Mr. Osborne Wilmot, who asks for the investigation of a certain case of February last, on which the doctor and matron can give evidence. We do not know anything of the case, but we shall lay the telegram, together with a statement from Miss Ginns in reg rid to the treatment and the retention of her caution money, before the subscribers and submit the matter to their decision. We shall cert mily do full justice to the defence, and no one will be more pleased than ourselves to see some very ugly statements explained away. — Eds. Netes.

A CORRECTION

Rio de Janeiro, 10th October 1898. The Editor of the RIO NEWS.

A « Varia » of the fornal do Commercio of the 7th inst., protests against the abuse of official printing works for other than legitimate purposes, and points out the printing of the « Exposition Viticole de S. Paul., » a translation by Dr. Germano Vert, and the « Informações uteis para o lavrador, » a translation of Messrs. Sutton's work, by Dr. Ennes de Souza and mysalf, as being examples of this abuse. With regard to our pamphlet the fornal is particularly severe against Sutton & Sons for attempting to advertise their products «A custa do pobre contribuinte do Brazil,» although the fact of the matter is that we supplied the paper for the printing of the pamphlet, and have paid the Casa da Moeda's a/c for the printing of some, so that we are in no way increasing the burdens of the w pobre contribuinte.»

On the day of public tio 1 of above «Varia » I wrote the editor of the fornal, as per copy herewith, rectifying his error, but although he has published letters from Des. Jacy Monteiro and Campos da Paz regarding the printing of the pamphlet «Exposition Viticole de S. COFFEE NOTES

Tea seems to have quite supplanted coffee in Ceylon, the latest returns giving 363,807 acres under tea and only 14,416 acres under coffee, of which 2,428 acres were under Liberian coffee. The decrease in acreage since 1895 has been about 10,000 acres in Arabian coffee, and 400 acres in Liberian coffee.

The new coffee-roasting establishment mounted by the Sugar Trust in Brooklyn, should now be in operation. It comprises 22 roasting machines, and is designed to make war on the Arbuckles. This struggle between the Sugar Trust and Arbuckles will give consumers cheap sugar and coffee, but it will be hard on other refiners and roasters.

The Jornal do Commercio of Juiz de Fora says that a planter in the municipality of Albadia, Minas Geraes, disaminated by the taxes imposed on coffee and the low prices obtained for that product, has given order that his coffee trees shall be cut down and the land planted with capim (a kind of grass). It is to be feared that the aforesaid planter will soon regret his foolishness.

AMERICAN IMPORTS OF COFFEE.

The full report of the U. S. Bureau of Statistics shows coffee to be the most importan article, measured by value, in the imports of 1898. The total net imports compare with five preceding years as follows:

| Year ending June 30- | Pounds. | Value, |
|----------------------|-----------------|--------------|
| 1808 | 851,691,346 | $62,674,241 |
| 1897 | | 79,893,943 |
| 1896 | 572,671,849 | 83.534.366 |
| 1895 | 643,234 766 | 94,599.880 |
| 1894 | | 89,500,572 |
| 1893 | 551,395,250 | 73.414.496 |
| | BENEFIT CHARLES | |

Total...... 3,890,621,732 $488,747,498 Average per year. 648,436,955 $81,457,916

Average per year. 648.436.955 $81.457,916

It is apparent from the above that the very large imports of 1889 were due to coffee imported in excess of requirements and in anticipation of the imposition of a duty. Stocks onto of licensed warehouses are known to be heavy and variously estimated from 100,000,000 to 150,000,000 pounds. If allowance is made for increased consumption due to growth of population and to the decline in price, we find that the imports in 1868 were too far above the yearly average to warrant the statement that the increase was due to enlarged use of the bean. It is fair to assume that dealers and roasters are currying from 1,000,000 to 1,500,000 bags more coffee than was held at this time last season.

The following table shows the average import price for the past six years:

| Year. Price per lhcts |
|-----------------------|
| 1895 14.7 |
| 1894 16.4 |
| 1893 14.0 |

The large imports at low prices show that a duty of three cents per pound might have been levied on coffee and still left the average cost for the year nearly one cent per pound below the cost in 1897.

The coffee imported was received from the following countries:

—Shipments to Brazilian ports are rather slow owing to want of berthed steamers. Rates to Rio and Santos are becoming firmer through absence of tounage. Merchants still resist the rise built appears that higher figures than those certrent will soon be secured.—Times, Buenos Aires.

A curious contradiction has just arisen between the Pair and the Gazeta de Notrcias. The former asserted that the state of the Brazilian squadron on the upper Paraguay (in Matto Grosso) is deplorable. Understanding that the Bolivian minister had recently visited the gunboat "Bahia" on his way down the river, the Gazeta de Noticias sent to inquire of that diplomat if the report is true. It was a very improper question to ask, and the minister of course answered it in the only way possible; he said that the state of the ship is flattering. And he would probably have said the same had he found the gunboat stuck in the mud.

—The national lugger «Brazil» was wrecked on the ceast of Saquarema, not far from Cupe Frib, on the 5th inst., and four suitors were thrown upon some barren rocks, where they remained three days and nights without food, water and shelter. They were rescued on the 8th by six intrepid residents of Saqua-rems.

On the 8th just, 300 students made an dustastic manifestation in Buenos Aires in for of Sr. Moreno. They should have been aked and sent home.

The Tribuna says that Manoel Victo-Barbosa Lima, João Cordeiro, Glycerio students of the polytechnic and medical sols are watched by police detectives.

— Among the arrivals here by the «Coleridge» st evening was United States vice-consul-meral John T. Lewis and his bride. A hearty cloome has been given them by Mr. Lewis' any old friends.

—The Paiz of Sunday tells us that Cauton the capital of Ohio. This is perhaps not so load as the killing of poor Starspangled and onner in Cuba, but it will do to keep up the eputation of the Paiz for accuracy.

— The minister of industry says that the smal supply of water in this city is about 0,000,000 litres per diem, but that during dry weather that preceded the recent rains had been reduced to 100,000,000 litres.

Several robberies have recently been com-mitted at the post office and on Sunday there was arrested a postman at whose house there were found concealed under a mattress a number of letters, some of which had been opened.

— If the jacobin deputies were as solicitous or the welfare of the country as they are or the protection of disorderly students and adets, we should have had the pleasure long go of recording some attempts at useful gislation.

Among the congratulatory telegrams re-ved by President Prudente de Moraes on birthday was one from nine of the journals bilshed in the city of Rio Grande do Sul, idently the press of that city is almost nimously favorable to the outgoing Pre-Evidently — It not having been possible on account the want of a quorum for the chamber deputies to take action on the motion for appointment of a committee to congra-late President Prudente de Moraes on his rthday, 62 deputies signed a congratulatory message.

— The Imprensa states, not as a mere conjecture, but as an absolute fact, that Campos Salies' cabinet has been organized as follows:

Finance, Joaquim Murtino; industry, Severino Vieira; interior, Epitacio Pessoa; forein affaira, Olyutho de Magallhæs; war, Gen. Mallet. The portfolio of marine, says the Imprensa, was offered to Guillobel, who declined, suggesting that the present minister should be reappointed. Sampaio Ferraz, adds that journal, has accepted Campos Stiles' offer of the office of chief of police of this city.

—The temperature during the past week was very agreeable, something like what we should have had in July and August.

— The new morning newspaper, Imbreusa, of which Senator Ray Burbosa is editor-in-chief, male its appearance on Tuesday last. It will be perhaps, devoted more to political discussion than to news, and will inquestionably command general respect and attention. It has our best wishes for a successful career.

The Imprensa says that President Prudente de Moraes, when he quits office on the 15th prox., will be accompanied as far as Taubaté on his way to Piraciesha by a sommittee of business men who will give him a farewell breakfast at that place. Some of his friends in congress will go with him to Piraciesha.

— The Imprensa very justly deprecates the prevailing tendency to convert the birthdays of prominent office holders into occasions of public demonstrations. In the case of the outgoing President, however, some demonstration was needed as a corrective for the abstraination that has been displayed towards the President-elect.

President-elect.

—On Sunday the police, at the request of the director of the postoffice, searched the room of a letter-carrier residing in Rua dos-Invalidos, where they found concealed under his mattress a large number of letters, some of them opened. A letter found in the carrier's pocket showed-him to be in communication with a well-known thief, now in prison.

—Senator Severino Visira presented a bill in the senate on the 5th inst for extinguishing the civil and military monte pio. We are inclined to believe that the measure is timely and necessary, for the state has assumed too much in this direction. A reform in the pension regulations would also be heneficial, for there are too many able bodied men, still in the prime of life, on the pension rolls.

—The semi-monthly report of the health in the prime of life, on the pension rolls.

The semi-monthly report of the health department of this city gives the following returns for the first half of September; births, 620; deaths, 469; marriages, 102; port arrivals (according to the fornal do Commercio), 215,-814; departures, 211,82; (the fornal probably means the arrivals and departures since January 18th. Among the causes of death were yellow fever 12, small-pox 2, dysentery 2, typhoid fever 2, beri bert 3, pernicious fever 12, other malarial causes 18, pulmonary consumption 101. The report gives the death rate as 14.1/4 per thousand per annum, but we calculate it at 19. The average temperature was 67° Fahr, the maximum being 820, and the minimum $5,5°. The actual port arrivals were 11,092, and the departures 10,295.

— The commercial editor of the Impressa estimates at £ 1,660,000 the value of the imports at Rio de Janeiro from the 1st to Sthinst inclusive. The value of the coffee shipped from Rio de Janeiro and Santos during the same period he estimates at £ 2,941,670. The transactions in exchange reported at the four principal markets of Brazil amounted, he says, to £ 7,748,245. These estimates are evidently much too large.

— The arbitrators appointed to determine the damages caused by the suspension of the contract made with the Companhia Metropolitana for the introduction of immigrants, have decided that the said company shall pay to Sig. Giaconno Cresta the sum of 2,877,000$, covering the profits on the immigrants, has a dark of the sentence. This of course furnishes a base for the company's claim on the government.

The result is that the revenue suffers from the suspension of imports and the country gains nothing.

—The budget committee of the chamber of deputies having reported in favor of concessions to the gas company of this capital, one of its members. Dr. Paulino de Souza, lass presented a minority report opposing the same. He says that the company has failed to fully execute the provisions of the Brianthe contract of 1885, that the preference for electric lighting is already provided for and that it would be wrong to now deprive the city of the benefit of a public concurrence for the next contract period.

THE RIC

The Parque Pluminense which was opened under such bright anspices at the Largo do Machado, seems to have missed its opportunity. Conflicts, disorderly scenes and disorderly characters are making the place something widely different from what we hoped it would be.

Anongst the passengers who left Rio by the Clyde on the 6th inst. was our friend Mr. Daniel Cuser of the firm of Hopkins, Causer and Hopkins of Birmingham. Mr. Causer had been visiting the branch establishment in Rio, where his firm is worthly represented by Mr. John A. Finlay in Rua Theophilo Ottoni No. 75. Although Mr. Causer has been long an absentee from Brazil, he knows Rio through and through, as though he had left it but yesterday. Another friend of ours, M. Pierre Goiffon, who is known throughout South America as a pushing business man in many lines, from needles to anchors and antibilious pills, was a passenger by the same steamer.

— In reply to our enquiry last week we are informed that there are two kinds of ipecacuant afficinalis as it is calsed by the natives, or ipecacuant afficinalis as it is classified by Arrada, but grows mid Brazil. There is another variety found in the mane of Pombalia ipecacuana, but although it is much used by the natives there as a gentle purgative, a mild stimulant and its powers of promoting sperspiration, it is not the root used in general practice.

—It seems to have been considered necessary for the Jornal do Commercio to declare on Sunday: —a We are authorized to declare that the allegation that the treasury is intervening or has intervened in the exclanage market to promote the rise which happily is becoming important, is absolutely without foundation. —Is anyone complaining of the rise? We know that there are some who favor cheap money, and it may be possible that this improvement in the value of the currency is filling them with alarm.

THE RIO NEWS.

THE KIO NEWS.

This paper is now in its 3th year having originally been published as The South Assertion Mail and The British and American Mail. It assumed its present title at the beginning of April, 150, when it was published three times a month. From a trimenthly it has been changed to a weekly publication, and from four pages it has been increased to twelve.

As an advertising medium This Naws occupies an exceptionally advantageous position. It circulates widely throughout Brazil, and also in Barrope and the United States. Its subscribers are principally business men interested in Brazilian trade, industries and investments. No other periodical, even with much larger circulation, can offer better inducements to advertisers who seek the attention of these classes. All communications should be addressed to the Editor and Publisher, Caixa do Correio, 258, Rio de Janeiro.
