—A tragic deed is reported from the city of Cordoba. Aurelia Ambrosio, a young lady recently married, killed a man mone Botinelli in defence of her honor. At 11 p.m. on Sunday night Aurelia, who had just gone to bed and left the lamp lighted, heard a knock at the street door. Trinking her husband, whom she was expecting, had returned, she immediately opened the door and went back to her room. On reaching her bed, however, she heard a strange voice saying: "Do not be frightened. Señora," and Botinelli entered the room. The lady who was surprised at this unwarranted intrusion, asked what was his business, and why he dared enter her room at that late hour. Botinelli then declared his passion and told her again not to be afraid, that her husband was in the conflieria playing billards. The young woman very much shocked Cad alarmed ordered the rufflan to retire, and on his refusing to do so she took her husband's revolver and fired, wounding him slightly. Nothing daunted Botinelli advanced to the bed, and Aurelia as a last resource again fred, this time with deally aim, shooting her assailant through the heart. —Southern Cross, Buenos Aires, Feb. 15.

UNIVERSAL PEACE.

We are glad to see that there are still some great churchmen who have courage to withstand and condenu the passion for military gain and glory which is now sweeping over the world. Unhappily they are not numerous, nor are their voices frequently heard, and it is therefore all the more noteworthy to find the highest prelate of the Roman Catholic church in the United States taking so unequivocal a position against imperialism and militarism. A New York letter of 19th January from the Morning Leader's correspondent says:—

from the Morning Leader's correspondent says:—

A sermon by Cardinal Gibbons, warning the people of America lest they become "intoxicated with the wine of Imperialism" and opposing the formation of a large stunding army, has caused a considerable impression throughout the country.

The government project of asking an increase of 100,000 in the regular army will in consequence be probably abandoned in favor of a much more conservative method of finding troops to continue the warfare in the Philippines. As troops must be found my some means, and must be found urgently, it is quite possible that the secretary for war will give his approval to Senator Breon's expedient of creating an army exclusively for colonial services.

means, and must be foundurgently, it is quite possible that the secretary for war will give his approval to Senator Bacon's expedient of creating an army exclusively for colonial services.
Curdinal Gibbons's impressive speech was delivered on the theme of Christ's mission of peace. His Eminence reviewed the European wars of the nineteenth century, including that of Great Britain against the Boers and all those of the United States, from that for independence to that with Spin.

"Is it not an outrage, he said, to contemplate one nation forcing by the sword her lows, her government and political institutions on an other nation in the interest of trade and commerce, as if merchandies and follars and cent is were of more value than humin lives? Is it not amounted the strength of the properties of the properties of the properties. This rectification of boundaries is a very old practice, and is a polite name for robbery on a large scale."

He quoted statistics on the size and costs of the armanuents of Europe, and referred to the soldiers as "young men vegetating in idlenses in time of peace and Invariating in licence and dissipation in time of war."

"Mry God, he added, so guide our legislators and statesmen that they may never be betrayed into imitating European governments by the establishment of formidable stunding armies. God forbid that we ourselves, fushed with recent victories, should ever become intoxicated with the wine of imperialism or militarism, but may we always follow the traditions of the fathers of the republic.

"Hitherto we have presented to the world a beautiful spectacle. Europeans accustomed at nome to meet a soldier or gendarme at every street corner, on arriving in this country. They would feel that we are a strong nation because we cheerfully bow to the majesty of the law and an an an orion for the Lunied States is a soldier without uniform engaged in the active persuits of life, and ready at a moment's notice to defend his country. They would feel that we are a strong nation because we chee

Ir is stated that the purchases in the United States of horses and mules by the British government for military operations in South Africa, amount in value to $26,60,000. Think of it! The richest nation of the world, buying guns, mounts, equipment and provisions anywhere and everywhere; a handful of poor farmers, mounted on their own poises and denied all intercourse with the outside world: was there ever a war so unequal?

THE PUBLIC DERT.

By an interesting coincidence, on the very day on which we renewed in our last issue the demand that we have repeatedly made for an official monthly statement of the public debt, there appeared in the Brazilian Review an article which has the merit of being a valuable object lesson in support of our demand. demand

In that article the Review attempts to make a comparative statement of the debt at three different periods, but, in view of the lack of official data, the attempt is necessarily a failure of the lack of official cata, the attempt is necessarily as failure at the control of the control of the lack of official cata, the attempt is necessarily as failure at the control of the con tempt is necessarily a failure.

In the first place the figures are made to appear more recent than they really are. The issue of funding loan bonds, for instance, is stated to have amounted in 1900 to £4,328,881, when in reality it amounted to that sum on December 31, 1899, and was increased in 1900 by large additional issues.

In the figures representing the reduction in the internal gold debt between 1898 and 1900 is included the sum of 91,650,000$, amount of bonds transferred to the government by banks of figure in eartherment of accounts. As of issue in settlement of accounts. As the transfer was effected before 1898, it is evident that the Review erroneously attributes the corresponding reduction in the gold debt to a period to which it the gold deep to a person of which a does not belong.

The Review deducts from the gold debt the sum of 18,350,000$ in 4 $^{0}/_{0}$ bonds, but it fails to add to the currency debt the amount of 6 $^{0}/_{0}$ bonds into which those gold bonds are supposed to have been converted. The editor may perhaps allege that he has no certain knowledge of the conversion. Neither have we; but we know that about two years ago the government attempted to force holders to make the exchange at the rate of 1,000$ in gold bonds for 1,800$ in currency bonds. We also know that on March 31, 1899, the Banco Rural held 10,548,917$800 in the 4 % gold bonds, which after that date disappeared from its balance-sheets, being replaced by an increase of 15,965,850$ in the amount of 6 % currency bonds held by the bonds. held by the bank

According to the Review the 5 % currency debt amounted in 1900 to 483,401,000$. If these figures are correct, why does the last budget contain an appropriation for paying 5 % interest on a debt of 518,859,200? There are doubtless many discrep-ancies in the Review's statement in ad-dition to those that we have pointed out; but we shall not attempt to discover them, since enough has already been said to show that its figures are utterly untrustworthy and misleading.

To cought to be possible, it seems to

It ought to be possible, it seems to us, to ascertain what the government owes at any given period, and we con-sequently once more repeat our demand for an official statement of the public debt similar to that issued monthly by the United States treasury.

COMPANHIA DE CARRIS URBANOS.

The trams of the Companhia de Carris Urbanos carried last year 30,767,798 passeng rs, of whom 3,435,384 were carried gratuitously, and 1,074,440 packages of merchandise, in which are included 985,308 bags of coffee.

The principal source of revenue of the company, that is the passenger traffic, produced 2,733,2415,00. The fright traffic was effected at a loss, the receipts amounting to 345,993$710 and the expenses to 379,509$390. This is the smallest freight traffic that the company has had in the last ten years, during which the general tendency has been downward, and is considerably less than the average, as is shown by the following statement:

Average in five years, from 1891

In consequence of the critical business situation the company has lost a large part of its freight traffic and has, moreover, been obliged to reduce its rates.

The receipts from the luggage traffic amounted to 60, 1804 100 and those from miscellaneous sources to 124,734$110.

The total gross receipts were 1,658,614$280 in the first half year and 1,605,505$340 in the second, making 3,264,143$630 for the whole year against the following sums in the three previous years: previous years:

1897 3,810,018$964 1898 ... 3,414,302$420 1899 ... 3,456,050$160

The expenses amounted last year to 3,057,-343$699. The following are some of the principal items:

municipal government.... Taxes....Loss incurred on sale of 51 mules and death of 147..... 35,157$300

COFFEE NOTES

— The Correio of São Carlos do Pinhal, São Paulo, says that coffee picking will be later than usual this year.

— The total exports of coffee from Ceylon last year amounted to only 10,777 cwts., against 18,542 cwts. in 1899, 13,313 in 1898, 19,383 in 1897 and 86,692 in 1891.

— The coffee planters of Porto Rico are asking the United States to impose an import duty on all coffee except that from their own country. They have become good "protectionists" very quickly.

The Paiz in its issue of last Sunday pub-blishes a report of the organization of a syn-dicate for bulling the coffee market. This syndicate will operate, it is stated, with Amer-ican and European capital.

—Porto Rican coffee growers have one important qualification for United States citizenship, at least in protectionist eyes, for they believe in taxing other people for their benefit. They have had the assurance to beg congress to slap an import duty on all coffee except their own as it comes into United States ports, —Merchants' Review, New York.

POSTOFFICE ADDRESS: - Catxa 258.

RIO DE JANEIRO, MARCH 5th 1901.

Names often come to mean very little when they become popular catchwords. The 'patriot' is the man who supports an aggressive administrative policy which history will surely condemn as discreditable in every sense of the term, discreditable in every sense of the term, and the man who opposes such a policy is classed as a "traitor" and "enemy of his country." In a more general sense, those who oppose the measures and policy adopted by a particular government or dominant party, and who do not believe that good results can come from such measures and policy, are classed as"pessimists," and upon their obstinate such measures and policy, are classed as 'pessimists,' and upon their obstinate heads are poured vials of wrath by all the 'patriots' who are allied to the government and interested in its schemes. We have now been classed with the 'pessimists' for many years, and have enjoyed all the discredit and disfavor which have been heaped upon them, and we may therefore be permitted to say a word in their defence, and to ask what the 'optimists' are doing to merit our confidence. If the 'pessimists' are bad, then the 'optimists' ought to be good; but are they good? Is it right and honest to conceal the true state of the country and to deceive others into bad investments? Is it right to make a false propaganda abroad true state of the country and to deceive others into bad investments? Is it right to make a false propaganda abroad designed to encourage immigration, to bolster upcommercial credit, and to cheat capitalists into unsafe investments? And is it right to deceive the people of the country into a belief that their affairs are going on smoothly and safety when country into a belief that their affairs are going on smoothly and safely, when the very reverse is true? And who, then, is the true "patriot"—the "optimist" who puts a false face on the situation, or the "pessimist" who exposes all its ugliness? The truth is sometimes unpleasant and unpalatable, and even those who are not responsible for a difficult situation do not care to hear it. We understand and appreciate for a difficult situation do not care to hear it. We understand and appreciate the feeling, but what are we to do? We may safely assume that no one wishes harm to the country. The prosperity of the country means prosperity for the individual as well, and self-interest therefore compels us all to cherish the one common desire that the country may be prosperous. We may differ on a score of subordinate issues and we may object to the methods and means which a dominant party may employ, but we are still in accord on the one common aspiration for the developone common aspiration for the development and prosperity of the country. But when a situation is reached where commerce and industry are declining, commerce and industry are declining, where taxation has increased beyond the resources of the people, where distress and financial loss are weighing upon all classes, and where a ruling faction persists in continuing a policy full of danger to the country, what should we do? Shall we be "pessimists," denounce abuses and errors, and demand a return to a safer and better policy? or shall we turn "optimists" and seek to conceal and aggravate the situation? In our opinion, the present situation is dangerous and hopeless, and there is nothbeing but disaster before us should the government persist in its present policy. We may be mistaken, but that does We may be mistaken, but that does not alter facts nor compel silence. Discus-sions hould bring out the truth, and it is a criminal blunder to seek to repress

It would seem that the scheme of the minister of finance for a metallic circulation, consists in accumulating a certian amount of gold in the treasury, and then issuing gold notes against that amount. This will be a strange kind of smetallic circulations, but in view of the hazy ideas operating in Ru do Sacramento on such subjects it is perhaps the best one cur expect. A piper treasury note issued against gold on deposit should have the value of the gold, but unless it is made convertible on demund, and steps are taken to protect the gold deposits against unscrupulous ministers, the said notes are not likely to be much better than those now current. The history of the gold notes now current. The history of the gold notes now current. The history of the gold notes of 1890 issued by the Bruce International will serve as a good object lesson, and the diversion of the bruk deposits in gold and bonds to gurrantee the issues of virious bruks should serve as a wraning. When ministers of finances show themselves strong enough to scrupulous show themselves strong enough to scrupulous approach in the protect and deposits in difficult thus, and not afraid to publish swarn statements of the condition of the treasury every month, then we may expect some good results from a scheme which depends so largely upon public confidence for its success.

According to a London telegram of the 28th ult, the Duly News credits the year office with a scheme designed to cultivate a military sentiment among the people. The design is toorganize a "graph de conferencists ambalantes" who will go to all the villages and hamlets in the country to demonstrate the advantages of military life. Among the means to be employed will be magic lantern pictures showing copies of celebrated paintings of bittle scenes, heroic acts and presentations of medils. The reverse of all this, the grief of the widows and orphans, the sufferings of the widows and to be suffered to the burd of the ded in trenches, the gruesome scenes in hospital and complete destruction of homes, the brutalizing of men and degradation of women—all this, it is needless to say, will not be represented. We can hardly believe that the British government is seriously considering any such scene. War is savagery in its worst formly, it is amagination to the principles of christianity, and infinited to every sentiment of refinement in human nature. The recent recran become of militarism throughout the world is nothing less than a lapse into burburism. We do not believe that the best men of England will welcome any attempt to glorify war, even if the war office is meditating such a scheme as the one mentioned, nor do we believe that the practical elements of the British nation will long be deceived by any such theatrical method of popularizing war. The purpose of the twentieth century should be to advance what was begun in the innerent mans and the content of arbitration for war.

what was begun in the unieteenth—the substitution of arbitration for war.

The Gazeta de Nolicias in its issue of last Thursday refers to the decrease in the importation of butter, pork, bacon, Indian corn, beans, tallow, candles, matches, gin and wine. The Gazeta attributes the decrease not to a corresponding decrease in consumption, but to the competition of Brazilian products of the respective classes. Our contemporary asserts that there are figures to prove this, but unfortunately it fails to publish those figures. We should like to see them and, until we do, we shall be obliged to maintain our opinion that the decrease in the import trade is due, partly at least, to the decrease in the ability of the people to purchase. Why, for instance, should they not restrict their consumption of butter, which even in more prosperous times was considered by many persons an article of luxury, it they are no longer able to pay for such an article as can assect? If the editor of the Gazeta will converse with the owners of creameries, he will discover, we think, that their business is not so prosperous as he imagines. The manager of the greamery at Uberaba, for instance, complains bitterly of burdensome taxation, which, he says, is the principal obstacle to the growth of his business. For every kilo of butter that he ships to S. Paulo, which is the best market, he has to pay a tax of 120 reis. The casks and tins shipped to him for packing his butter have to pay 50 reis per kilo. The quantity of butter imported last year at Rio de Janeiro from foreign countries was only 30,115 cases against $1,325 cases in 1890, the decrease being 2,120 cases, or about 1,20,000 lbs. That there has been some increase in the production of Brazilian butter we do not doubt, but not sufficient to compensate for the large decrease in the trade in foreign butter.

Julio de Castilhos may be all that a 24-hours acquaintance enabled Minister Bryan to discover in him. but as he is cordially detected by many Brazilians and is a prospective firebrand in Brazilian political affairs, it would lave been good policy to have used a little discretion.

— There was trouble at the Central railway station on the evening of the 27th, when the officials assisted by a police delegado, undertook to elore the punching of passenger tickets at the gate leading to the platforms. The consequence was that many passengers lost their trains, and there was no little complaint in regard to the matter. It is strange that officials will insist on doing things which they are not prepared to do, and which only cause annoyance and complaint.

In our opinion, the fees charged are too high and the restrictions on admission too severe, but this brings up an old dispute which we prefer to leave to time and experience. Our contention has been that a full hospital on small fees will pay better than a few patients on high fees. Besides that, the hospital will then be fulfilling its mission.

— An important theft occurred at Taubaté, presumably, on the 1st inst., the Conde do Pinhal losing 297,000 through the loss of a bag entrusted to the care of a confidential servant. He was bringing the money to this city and on changing from the narrow to the broad gauge line at Taubaté the servant disappeared with the bag and money, The Conde do Pinhal, who is an important São Paulo planter, did not discover the disappearance of his servant until the train reached Cruzeiro, which indicates no small amount of carelessness on his part. Steps were at once taken to capture the thief, when it was found that he had telegraphed to his master of his arrest. Subsequent advices state that the recaptured bag is not the right one, and that the money is still missing.

— The following story, which we take from the B. A. Herald of the 16th nit., has been circulating in Buenos Aires. We do not know whether it is true or not, but we are inclined to doubt it. The Herald's story is as follows: — President Campos Siles on Thursday went into Rio from Petropolis. On his return a poorly dressed man approached his mad all present thought he was going to make an attempt upon the president's life. The people and police surrounded the president to protect him and the man was arrested. He had merely been going to ask alms. He was brought before the president and said he wis in great misery. Unfortunately prices have declined and rope tobacco, which formerly sold at from $$\fo$$ to $$\fo$$ per metre, is now quoted at 500 reis without buyers.

—The glass factory of Prado, Jordão & Co. at Agui Branca, S. Paulo, has been closed on account of the inability of the proprietors and operatives to agree in regard to pay. The operatives, who are Prench, have telegraphed to the French unbister of commerce, asking for repatriation.

—The Brazilian cousul at Oporto, Sr. Calmon Nogueira do Valle da Guna, who has been involved in recent troubles in that city, has been transferred to the Trieste consulat. The difficulty, as our readers are aware, was in connection with the anti-clerical demonstrations in Oporto.

—It is announced that the states of S. Paulo, Minas Geraes and Rio Grande do Sul will be represented at the Buffalo exposition. The mineral exhibit from Minas Geraes promises to be most interesting. Steps have also been taken in Pernambuco to arrange an exhibit from that state.

FINANCIAL NOTES

The minister of finance seems to have removed his residence to Petropolis.

—Smalwyt suggests the creation of a new cabinet department to be called the administerio das Estampilhas.» He says the business has become so extensive that it demands separate and special supervision.

—The new state government of Pará Calains, according to a telegram of the 1st inst., to have effected economies aggregating 474,000$ gold by reductions in personnel, and about 800,000$ gold in supplies. This is the right kind of economy, and we hope it will prove real.

J NEWS.

—It is stated that the government will ship £500,000 to its London agent by to-day's steamer. Happy foreign creditor! Here the starving Ceara refugee employed on public works has received no pay for two months, the unfortunate merchant is unable to get discounts because the government has not kept its promise to furnish twenty-five thousand contos for that purpose, and hundreds of accounts are kept waiting for settlement. Happy strangers! No wonder Brazilians like to live in Paris and play the rôle of foreigners! A subsequent statement says the remittance is £300,000 (not £500,000) and it goes by the "Thames."

—In the last three years the gold receipts of the Rio de Janeiro enstomi-house for the month of February have been as follows:

1899. 667,768$55$
1900. 451,385744
1901. 667,768$05$
1900. 451,385744
1901. 685,47$00

In 1899 ten per cent. of the import duties were collected in gold, last year fifteen per cent. and this year 25 "lo. Comparing the months of January and February of the present year, we have the following result:

January. 1,216,505$70

Pebruary 885,747$66

Decrease..... 329,003$509

The decrease is 27 °/₉. If there has been a similar decrease at other custom-houses, the total customs receipts in gold for February do not exceed 2,200,000$ against 2,962,489$024 in January.

PERNAMBUCO.

From the February Freight Report and Shipping List of Mr. Arthur B. Dallas, we extract the following notes:

Sugar.—Receipts for January exceed those of the same month last year by 49,485 bags. This increase is considerably influenced by the fact that comparatively few plintlers are claying their sugars; as with mascavadoes for export.

THE KIO NEWS.

This paper is now in its zirth year having originally been published as The South American Mail and The British and American Mail. It assumed its presentitle at the beginning of April. 1879, when it was published three times a month. From a tri-monthly it has been changed to a weekly publication, and from four pages it has been increased to twelve.

As an advertising medium The News occupies an a eptionally advantageous position. It circulates widely throughout Brazil, and also in Europe and the United States. Its subscribers are principally business men interested in Brazilian trade, industries and in vestments. No other periodical, even with much larger circulation, can offer better inducements to advertisers who seek the attention of these classes.

All communications should be addressed to the Rditor and Publisher, Caixa do Correio, 188, Bio de Janetro.

For passages and information apply to the office of

LAGE IRMÃOS, Rua do Hospicio, 9
